A Princeton Centenarian Is Honored By Town & Gown for Service to Both

Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker, a Princeton resident for 74 years, celebrated her 100th birthday on Sunday at her home on Prospect Avenue.

Born July 1, 1890 in Lexington, Kentucky, Mrs. Wertenbaker came to Princeton in 1916 as the bride of a young historian from the University of Virginia who had been brought to Princeton by Woodrow Wilson in 1910 as a preceptor. Prof. Wertenbaker was one of the most distinguished, popular and prolific members of the Princeton History Department for an unprecedented 37 years until his retirement in 1947. His wife shared in his career and in the life of the University and the community to the fullest.

Topping the tributes she received for her birthday was an engraved card from the White House, embossed with the Presidential Seal in gold and signed by George Bush and by Barbara Bush. She also received a warm letter from Princeton President Harold T. Shapiro, who commented on what a "marvelous" life she had led and on the many contributions she had made to town and gown. Last year, President and Mrs. Shapiro held a reception for Mrs. Wertenbaker to celebrate her 99th birthday, but this year they were out of town for the occasion.

A longtime friend from Wales, a former student of Prof. Wertenbaker's while he was the Harmsworth Professor of American History at Oxford during 1944-45, timed his periodic visit to Mrs. Wertenbaker to coincide with the birthday and brought a letter written on Buckingham Palace stationery. The letter made it clear that the Queen was aware of Mrs. Wertenbaker and was sent in appreciation of her efforts on behalf of Commonwealth students at Princeton over the years.

Mrs. Wertenbaker and the former student, Denis Cor-

Garage Settlement Is Approved by Planning Board, But E-Quad Negotiations Still Have Long Way to Go

In the first of the two Planning Board meetings last week on the Princeton University parking garage and proposed expansion of the Engineering Quad, the board approved the settlement agreement negotiated with the University to resolve litigation over the garage. It also approved the re-opened application to build the garage with the conditions contained in the settlement agreement.

At the second meeting the following night, the board reviewed concept plans for a 60,000- to 65,000-square foot addition to the Engineering Quad and a 35,000- to 40,000-square-foot new Materials Science Center to be located nearby. Also on the agenda was a discussion of the proposed E-3/E-4 ordinance that has been introduced by Borough Council, but the concept review took up most of the evening, and the discussion of the ordinance has been continued until Wednesday, July 11.

Borough Council, therefore, has moved the public hearing before final adoption from Tuesday, July 10, to its meeting on Tuesday, July 24.

Murray Place/Aiken Avenue residents were out in full force at both meetings and were given ample opportunity to raise questions and challenge procedures. Their purpose seems to be, as Andrea Stein, 23 Murray Place, put it, "to get back some of the things that we didn't get when the ordinance was introduced." By this, Ms. Stein means height and bulk restrictions the residents had hoped to impose on future University development in the E-Quad.

The proposed ordinance states that for land owned by the Trustees of Princeton University, 340,000 square feet of additional residential and nonresidential floor area shall be permitted east of Olden Street and 200,000 square feet of residential and nonresidential floor area west of Olden Street. Both square footages include parking garages.

The total square footage of the parking garage, addition to the E-Quad, and the new Materials Science Center at full build-out is about 340,000 square feet. Murray Place residents (and Borough Councilman Roger Martindale) would like to see this amount reduced at least to 200,000 square feet, forcing the University to locate the parking garage elsewhere, or to give up the equivalent area of one of the other buildings proposed.

The proposed ordinance says that the height of buildings in the proposed E-3 and E-4 zones shall not exceed 39 feet, but it says that in the E-Quad the height shall not exceed elevation 236. Mr. Martindale wants this language referring to sea level elevation replaced with footage above ground level. The

New Teachers' Contract Squeezes By School Board by Margin of 5-4

By a vote of 5-4, the Princeton Regional School Board last Tuesday night ratified the new teachers' contract, which provides an average salary increase of 9.3 percent over the next three years.

The four-member negotiating team — Joel Cooper, Ann McGoldrick, Ruth Bronzan, and Corinne Kyle — was pledged to vote for the contract under the terms of the negotiations. Allen Grossman also voted in favor of it. Voting against the contract were Board members Marjorie Smith, Patty Soffronoff, Gerald Groves, and Robert Hillas.

"The extent of the increase in comparison to my environment today as a business person, and the extent compared with what other municipal professionals have received, comes close to violating the trust of the community," said Harry Levine, a former School Board member and one of three people in the audience to speak against the contract.

Paul Starr, a professor at Princeton University, said he had two children in the public schools and that he was a supporter of public education. "I shake my head in dismay. The changed political and economic climate is likely to result in sharp cutbacks in public schools. I say the present settlement is irrelevant. We should go for a one-year contract, and look at things in a fresh way."

Township Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand said that,

More Money Approved For Princeton's Schools

The State Legislature has approved a bill that could provide up to $600,000 in additional State aid to the Princeton Regional School District. This aid — which will go to Districts that have desegregation plans in place — was approved a week after the Legislature passed Gov. Jim Florio's major school funding program. This program will deprive Princeton of State foundation aid and will turn over the cost of pensions and Social Security to the local district.

About 19 districts in the State, including Princeton Regional, are functioning under desegregation plans.

"The Legislature provides up to $300 per pupil in this bill," said Corinne Kyle, chair of the School the District in time for the 1991-92 budget. She described it as a grant program that has to be funded each year, and which may be renewed on an annual basis.

"Part of the costs of running a school district is the diversity of students served," noted Ms. Kyle. About a third of the students in Princeton Regional are members of a minority group. Eighteen percent are black; 8 percent Asian/Pacific Islander, and 6 percent Hispanic.

Contract

apart from the deer issue, she has not received as many phone calls on any item. "I want to let everyone know how many citizens out there are extremely concerned," she told Board members. "The new contract is a major advance for this part of society. The community is seeing needs on the other side of the budget, such as the Library and roads."

Municipal and Library employees have generally been held to annual salary increases of 5 to 6 percent.

The new teachers' contract, which was ratified by the teachers' union on July 19, provides a 9.7 percent increase the first year, a 9.5 percent increase the second, and an 8.7 increase the third year.

School Board President Joel Cooper, who also headed the negotiating team, said the negotiators wished they had been able to return with a lower fee. He pointed out that the team was mindful of the deceleration in the increase in the cost of living and of the amount of raises others in the community were receiving.

Dr. Cooper said the team wanted to make sure the third year of the contract had numbers in the eights — numbers not seen for several years in Mercer County.

"Having the 1992 contract at 8.7 percent will leave the next negotiating team with a chance of a better settlement for the future," he said. He also noted, however, that the Princeton Regional Long Range Plan took the position that Princeton teachers should be paid better than other teachers.

Attendance Policy

In other business, the Board approved a controversial change in attendance policy at the high school. This reduces the number of permitted absences and places greater emphasis on notes from parents.

Speaking from the audience, Charlotte Danielson said she regretted the shift in policy. "This is a symptom of the issue. I understand from my daughter and her friends that you don't cut classes when it's fun to go."

Another member of the audience, Brian Atkins, said it appeared that a radical change was under way in the high school. "Why fool with what is working? Why return to a stricter system when we are considered best?"

He cited a speech made by graduating senior Nick Leschly at graduation, during which Mr. Leschly said there was a steady erosion of student freedoms and privileges at Princeton High School. Mr. Leschly also said he was asked to give a copy of his speech to the administration for approval before he could read it at graduation ceremonies.

"Was the intent to review or to pass on the student's speech?" Mr. Atkins asked the Board.

"I think we should have a free exchange of ideas," replied Board Member Ann McGoldrick. "But we would be within our rights to censor pornographic material."

Athletic Program Review

The School Board also accepted a copy of the Recommendations of the Athletic Program Review Committee from its chairman, Jim Healey.

The report recommended that there be a strong athletic director who should report directly to the superintendent; adequate staffing for all sports, consistent with the no-cut policy; an understanding by coaches that the no-cut policy does not mean students must be retained on teams no matter what their behavior; an exploration of the transitional program for athletics between middle school and high school; a review of the K-12 physical education curriculum as part of the normal program review cycle; and an improvement in communication in the Princeton Regional Schools community about the athletic program.

During the summer and early fall, staff will have the opportunity to review the recommendations and, where feasible, begin to implement them. Staff members will also prepare a progress report to be presented to the Program Committee of the Board of Education in November.

Montgomery Nat'l Bank
Seized by Regulators

Federal regulators on Friday seized Montgomery National Bank, Belle Mead, and immediately sold it to a bank in Old Bridge. Montgomery National was insolvent after a $10.5 million embezzlement by its former senior vice president and a number of losses on bad loans.

The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency closed down the $95.8 million-asset bank and turned it over to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), which immediately sold it to Amboy Madison Bancorporation, Old Bridge, a $707.6 million-asset institution. Montgomery National's main office and its branches in Hillsborough, Hopewell, and Belle Mead began this past weekend to operate under the name Amboy National Bank. Customers of Montgomery automatically became customers of Amboy. Accounts are insured for up to $100,000.

Amboy National Bank purchased about $92.3 million in 17,500 deposit accounts and some $95 million of Montgomery National's assets (loans) at $2.4 million discount.

Last August it was discovered that former Montgomery Senior Vice President James J. Fredricks had embezzled $10.5 million from 120 people over a period of seven years. In March, Mr. Fredricks pled guilty to mail fraud and conspiracy to commit bank fraud.

According to Kevin Hart, an attorney with Stark & Stark, who represents the bank in the case, an indictment against Mr. Fredricks' alleged partner in the scheme, former Bank Officer Michael Schneiderman, is expected to be returned shortly.

At the end of last year, Montgomery National had $4.3 million in nonperforming loans, of which $3.4 million were in real estate, according to Veribanc Inc., Wakefield, Mass. The institution's 7.3 percent bad-loan rate is substantially higher than that of banks of similar size in New Jersey, according to Veribanc.

A loss of $7.9 million in 1989 — caused by the embezzlement and bad loans — brought the bank into insolvency early this year, according to the data service.

In addition to its bad real estate loans, Montgomery National suffered a loss of nearly $900,000 over two years from improper credit card charges by a single client.

According to Bruce Moss, a manager from the FDIC Division of Liquidation's Orlando, Fla., office, all members of the Montgomery National staff have been assured by Amboy that they will have jobs for at least 30 days.

Borough Man Sentenced In Campus Rape Case

Nineteen-year-old Michael Tufano of 72 Murray Place, found guilty of raping a 19-year-old Princeton University student in 1989, was sentenced last week to ten years in prison.

In imposing sentence, Superior Court Judge Neil H. Shuster in Trenton said that Tufano would have to serve a minimum of five years before being eligible for parole.

Tufano is alleged to have dragged his victim behind a clump of bushes as she was walking to her dorm at 5:45 on the morning of January 8, 1989, from a University eating club. He allegedly threatened to kill her if she didn't cooperate. The victim's screams were heard by another student in a nearby dormitory, who called University security.

The victim was still in Tufano's grasp when proctors and Borough police converged on the scene and arrested him. At his trial last December, Tufano denied that he had attacked the student. He told a jury that he had met her at a party and upon seeing her walking to her dorm later, he only hugged and kissed her. The victim testified that there had been no consent of any kind on her part.

Tufano was found guilty of sexual assault, coercion and criminal restraint.

New Seven Percent State Sales Tax Extended to Many Additional Items

On Sunday, New Jersey residents began paying a seven percent sales tax, an increase of one percent. In addition, the tax was extended to a whole raft of new items, including local and long-distance phone calls; household soaps and cleaners; motor vehicles over 18,000 pounds and leased trucks and trailers; liquor, wine and beer sold by the drink and as package goods; and cigarettes sold over the counter and in vending machines.

The tax increase — signed into law last week by Gov. Jim Florio — also includes a new 2.75 percent tax on petroleum products, which could raise the price of gasoline by as much as two cents per gallon, and legislation increasing wholesale excise taxes on cigarettes and alcohol.

The paper products and household soaps and cleaners that will now be taxed at seven percent include ammonia; baby bath soaps; baby shampoo, paper bags; paper sandwich bags; paper baking cups; bathroom cleaners; paper bibs; dry or liquid bleach; laundry bluing; hubble bath; carpet cleaners; household cleaners; cleansers; paper coffee filters; coffee pot cleaner; contact lens care products; contact lens solution; copper cleaner; paper cups; dish detergents; dishwasher detergents;

Also liquid or dry laundry detergents; paper dishes; disinfectants; drain cleaners and openers; nonmedicated paper facial cleansing pads; fiberglass cleaner/polish; floor wax remover; paper food wraps; formica cleaner/polish; furniture polish and wax remover; glass cleaner; paper guest towels; hand cleaners; leather cleaner; lye, metal cleaning polish; mildew remover; paper napkins; paper nursing pads; oven cleaners; paper placemats; paper plates; laundry pre-soaks; rug cleaners; rug shampoos; scouring pads with soap; nonmedicated hair shampoo;

Also pet shampoo; bar soaps; dry powder soaps; hand soaps; laundry soaps; liquid soaps; saddle soaps; stain and spot removers; steel wool with soap; paper straws; paper table covers; tile cleaners; tissues; toilet bowl cleaners; toilet tissue; pre-moistened towelettes; paper towels; tri-sodium phosphate (tsp); disposable paper underpads; upholstery cleaners; paper vacuum cleaner filter bags; waxed paper; wax remover; floor wax; laundry whiteners; window cleaners; and wool washes.

science. The center will support teaching, research and public discussion concerning moral, political, social and spiritual aims and aspirations, and their influence on human character, conduct and communal life.

Mr. Rockefeller is a member of the Class of 1932 at Princeton and a former trustee. He attended the inauguration of Harold T. Shapiro in January, 1988, and was impressed by the incoming president's inaugural address in which he called for a renewed effort within the University to support "the public discourse that gives meaning and moral significance to our lives."

The idea for a values center at the University grew out of Dr. Shapiro's interest in "closing the gap between the moral and spiritual problems of our world and the focus of academic teaching and research" and Mr. Rockefeller's personal and philanthropic interests.

"The Center for Human Values represents the fulfillment of my Princeton education," Mr. Rockefeller said. "I began puzzling over questions about ethical and spiritual ideals as an undergraduate philosophy major. President Shapiro's inaugural address rekindled my interest in these ideas at Princeton, and I am most enthusiastic that so many faculty and students have come to believe so quickly in what the center can accomplish."

The center expects to offer undergraduate courses and graduate seminars in such areas as religion, culture and morality; ethics and international politics; moral education and development; philosophy and public affairs; political philosophy; moral dimensions of literature; theories of power; history of ethics; contemporary moral theory; ethics and the life sciences; and ethics and the professions.

At its beginning stages, the center will include at least six new endowed faculty positions: three Rockefeller Professorships for senior faculty, two preceptorships for junior faculty and a professorship for a visiting faculty member. It will be administered by an executive committee of six faculty members and a faculty director appointed by the dean of the faculty and the president.

The center will sponsor colloquia and other public conferences and lectures on issues of interest to the University community. It will provide faculty with research assistance funds for travel and special leaves of absence for research. It will offer fellowship support to graduate students, as well as research grants for undergraduates.

Three Princeton faculty identified as already at work in fields related to the study of human values and part of the planning for the center are Professor of Politics Amy Gutmann, who pursues studies in political theory that bridge the work of historians of political than it was last year, when many residents complained of tie-ups due to a heavy amount of work on Borough roads.

Reconstruction of roadways, sidewalks, storm sewers and curbs on Moore Street, Park Place, and Vandeventer Avenue will begin in September and October and will then continue in the spring of 1991.

Also in September and October, the Borough will add pavement overlays and new curbs and storm sewers, as necessary, to Armour Road, Campbellton Road and Circle, Orchard Circle, Stanley Avenue, Fisher Avenue, and Leavitt Lane.

The schedule is lighter this year, explained Borough Engineer Carl Peters, because the engineering staff could not concentrate last year both on construction and design. In addition, there are still final procedures remaining to complete on last year's contracts.

The major road effort in 1991 — scheduled for May through September — will be the reconstruction of Witherspoon Street, Palmer Square, and Chambers Street.

In addition, reconstruction work will be done from May through August on Markham Road, Pelham Street, Sergeant Street and Wilton Street. Pavement overlays, sidewalks and curb replacement are planned in June and July, 1991, for Cedar Lane, Robert Road, Forster Drive, and Riverside Drive.

thought and analytic philosophers; Professor of Religion Jeffrey L. Stout, an ethicist, and Professor of Philosophy John M. Cooper, a historian and interpreter of ancient Greek philosophy.

About $1 million of the $21 million may be used for construction; a small addition to 1879 Hall is under consideration. The remainder will be used for faculty and program, according to University spokesmen. Mr. Rockefeller previously gave $4 million to construct the Spelman dormitories that enabled Princeton to proceed with its plans for undergraduate coeducation.

He also contributed $5 million in 1983 for the construction of Rockefeller College, and in 1986 contributed $10 million toward the construction of the Lewis Thomas Molecular Biology Laboratory.

Fight On Club Lawn; Ewing Man Is Charged

A 20-year-old Ewing Township resident has been charged with three offenses by Borough police following a fight early Sunday morning on the front lawn of the Ivy Club, 43 Prospect Avenue.

Chester L. Bowser of Willis Drive has been charged with assault, possession of a weapon for unlawful purpose and disorderly conduct. After being processed by Princeton police and issued summonses to appear in court here on Monday, Bowser was turned over to the Trenton Police Department, which held two active warrants for his arrest for trespassing and for disorderly conduct.

Borough police responded to a 1:24 call Sunday morning reporting a fight on the Ivy Club lawn. Upon arrival, police noticed a crowd of some 20 men and women gathered on the east side of the club. Crowd members pointed out a suspect they said was responsible for the fight.

According to Chief Michael Carnevale, a specini social event, which had no connection with Ivy Club, was still in progress when it was disrupted by Bowser, who was described as highly intoxicated. Bowser had not been invited to the event.

Bowser, Chief Carnevale reported, was throwing beer bottles and swinging a board with protruding nails at people.

A resident of Willingboro was

Princeton Pops Concert & Fireworks

The 4th of July Princeton Pops Concert and Fireworks will be held this year at Mercer County Park. Gates will open at 5 p.m. and the concert is at 8.

From Route 1: Take Quaker Bridge Road over railroad tracks, turn left on Hughes Drive. From Lawrenceville: Take Franklin Corners Road across Route 1 (Bakers Basin Road) to Youngs Road, turn right on Hughes Drive.

The Park Entrance on Old Trenton Road and Hughes Drive will both be open. Tickets are $7, $5 and $2 at the gate.

In case of rain, the concert will be held at 8 p.m. in Jadwin Gym, Princeton University, and the fireworks will take place after dark on Saturday, July 7 in Mercer County Park.

struck with one of the board's rusty nails, sustained a puncture wound and was treated for torn tissue at Princeton Medical Center.

Following an investigation at the scene, Bowser was charged by Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel. None of those present were club members and the event had nothing to do with the University, Chief Carnevale said.

In a postscript, the victim became a victim for the second time later that morning when his wallet was stolen from his car while it was parked at the Medical Center. He lost $76.

Assault Outside Hospital

Earlier last week, a simple assault took place outside the main entrance to the Princeton Medical Center.

As related by Chief Carnevale, a 31-year-old Medical Center employee noticed someone attempting to enter the main entrance around 10 in the evening. The employee, who is not a security guard, attempted — politely — to inform the person that the doors were locked.

"For that caring attitude," the employee was told to mind his own business, Chief Carnevale continued. The suspect then ran up behind the employee and struck him in the face twice with his closed fist for no apparent reason.

The suspect is described as a black male, about 30, 5-7, stocky build, wearing yellow, red and white shorts and a white T-shirt.

Cyclist Is Assaulted

Township police are listing it as an assault but it seems likely that a 17-year-old Stuart Road resident was struck by a liquid-filled projectile fired from an air rifle.

According to Lt. Anthony Gaylord, the teenager was riding his bike late in the evening on his way home early last week when he and the occupants in a two-door hatchback passed each other. Moments later the car was behind the cyclist, who saw the barrel of a rifle protruding from the front passenger side window. Then he felt a pain.

"I'm guessing it was some type of pellet, possibly a paint pellet shot from some type of air gun," commented Lt. Gaylord. The youth was struck in the buttocks by a pellet but it did not break the skin. The projectile apparently burst on contact and left a wet mark on the victim's pants, Lt. Gaylord said.

Suspicion Confirmed: 24 Discs Were Stolen

"Elementary, Watson."

As a station manager for WPRB, the Princeton University radio station, was walking on South Tulane Street early last week, he noticed a man carrying some compact discs enter the Record Exchange shop on Tulane. The man had earlier done some electrical work at the station. That triggered the manager's suspicions.

He checked and discovered that 24 compact discs had been stolen from two open boxes in a closet in a storage area in the station. The manager called police.

An investigation by Sgt. Anthony Federico uncovered information that the suspect had sold 24 CDs to the Record Exchange for $34. The suspect, Leigh Labanowich, 21, of Lexington, Ky. was charged with theft and released after being issued a summons. He was scheduled to appear in Borough court this week.

Labanowich, police report, is not a University employee but works for a Princeton electrical contractor.

Epstein's Shoplifter

A 72-year-old Cranbury resident, William Landau, has been charged with shoplifting a $35 pair of suspenders last week from Epstein's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Observed by a security employee, Mr. Landau was detained until Township police arrived. An officer of the store signed the complaint.

24 Births Are Reported At the Medical Center

In the week ending June 28, 14 boys and 10 girls were born at Princeton Medical Center.

Sons were born to Howard and Holly Shemitz of Mercerville; Richard and Patricia Burkholder of Stockton; Edward and Daria Sapp of Monmouth Junction; Ken and Rhonda Matson of Lawrenceville, all on June 22;

Consolidation Is Topic Of Chamber Meeting

Consolidation of the two Princetons will be discussed by Stanley Smoyer at a special Princeton Business Association meeting on Thursday, July 12, at the Nassau Inn.

He will review the history of consolidation, the procedure required to initiate another study, and issues involved in determining feasibility. These include taxation, intensity of parochial values, and development.

30-YEAR MEN: Princeton's volunteer firemen held their annual parade and inspection last Friday. Among those honored were three members of Mercer Engine Co. No. 1, (from left) Jim Kahny, Jack Petrone and Norm Service, all of whom have completed 30 years of service.

Mr. Smoyer is a former member of Princeton Township Committee. He and his wife, Barbara, were selected as Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce Citizens of the Year in 1979. An attorney, retired from Johnson & Johnson, Mr. Smoyer is a graduate of Dartmouth College.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. and is open to the public. Cost is $5 per person. Reservations must be made through the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area, 520-1776.

The Princeton Business Association is a division of the Chamber.

Nominations Sought For Leadership Award

The Princeton Area Council

of Community Services is seeking nominees for its Citation for Distinguished Volunteer Leadership. The award is presented every fall at the Council's annual meeting to an outstanding community leader. It was presented to Max Blumenfeld in 1989 and Peter Putnam in 1988.

The purpose of the citation is to honor individuals who have made an outstanding contribution in volunteer leadership roles in nonprofit organizations which serve communities in the service area of the Council of Community Services. They may have been, for example, board or committee members involved in planning, policy making, or advocacy or played a key role in program development or management. The citation differs from the Robert E. Clancy Award for Outstanding Service as a Volunteer which is awarded each spring by the Council during National Volunteer Week to recognize direct-service, "hands-on" voluntarism.

Anyone interested in proposing a candidate for this volunteer leadership award should send a letter describing their candidate's volunteer work in leadership roles for area nonprofit organizations by August 1 to the Princeton Area Council of Community Services, 55 Princeton-Hightstown Road, P.O. Box 298, Princeton Junction 08550.

For further information call the Council office at 924-5865 or 799-6033.

Jewelry Items Taken In Two House Entries

Articles of jewelry were stolen last week in separate entries in the Township and Borough.

Township police report that about a dozen pieces of jewelry worth approximately $3,400 were stolen from a master bedroom in a home on Red Hill Road. Included in the haul was a $2,000 ring.

Lt. Anthony Gaylord said that a window was broken between noon and 3:55 Friday afternoon to gain entry. There was some ransacking evident, he said.

The same day in the Borough, a Patton Avenue home was entered without any sign of force between 9:45 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon. The entry was noticed when the occupant returned home and discovered drawers opened in a bedroom.

Missing, police report, is $275 worth of jewelry, including a gold ring, gold pin, and bracelets.

Three Wallets Stolen In Three Separate Thefts

Three wallets were stolen last week in the Borough on three separate days.

Early Sunday morning, the wallet of a Willingboro resident was stolen from his unlocked car while it was briefly (between 4 and 4:06) in the Princeton Medical Center lot off Witherspoon Street. He lost $76 and numerous credit cards.

The previous day, between noon and 1 p.m., while a Kingston resident was moving items from an apartment to his car parked in the Park Place lot, he left his wallet unattended in his unlocked car. When the victim had finished moving, he noticed that his wallet was missing. Valued at $80, it contained a $500 check but no cash.

The previous morning in another wallet heist, a Plainsboro resident joined the list of theft victims after he left his unlocked attaché case in a common area in the West College building on the University campus.

Returning an hour later at 11:30, he discovered that his wallet had been removed from his case. He lost $20.

A yellow mountain bike valued at $219 was stolen overnight last week despite being chained to a Nassau Street parking meter. The victim, a resident of Palmer Square, told police both the bike and chain were missing.

Princeton Resident Fined In Court on Drug Charges

In Township criminal court last week, Robert L. Spivey, 31 Clay Street, was fined a total of $595 and received a one-year

Police Here Tracking Down Truckers

Six months after it was put into operation by the Borough Police department, a Commercial Vehicle Inspection program, funded by the federal government, was described this week by Chief Michael Carnevale as "extremely successful."

"I think it has provided an additional degree of safety for pedestrians," added Chief Carnevale. Lt. Peter Hanley, who is overseeing the program, said that approximately 400 trucks have been stopped and checked since the CVI program went into effect January 13. Four Borough officers received special training under the program and are, Chief Carnevale said, "out checking nearly every day."

Lt. Hanley said that federal funds were first turned over to states, passed down to the county level and then distributed to communities. Princeton is one of several communities in Mercer County participating in the program.

A number of trucks have been towed for defective brakes or broken axles and drivers have been issued summonses for a host of violations. An interesting note, Chief Carnevale said, is that many of the drivers have complimented the department for making the inspections.

Word has also gotten around to those drivers who are not so enthusiastic. "We have been told by other people," Chief Carnevale commented, "of hearing CB conversations by truck drivers, passing on information if our officers are conducting inspections on Route 206."

Route 206 (Stockton Street leading out of Princeton) is where most of the trucks have been stopped in the Borough.

conditional discharge for possession of drug paraphernalia.

In traffic court, Chihjen Sung of Hihben Apartments was fined $75 for a stop sign violation.

Board Confirms Move: Sakala to Leave PHS

Princeton High School Principal John Sakala's appointment as supervising principal for the District was unanimously approved last week by the Regional School Board.

The Board also named PHS Assistant Principal Marylu Coviella as acting principal for the next school year, during which the administration will hold a national search for Mr. Sakala's successor.

Business Administrator/Board Secretary Robert Rader was named assistant superintendent for business/board secretary at the Board meeting. The personnel shifts approved at this meeting have no impact on the number of administrators for the District. There was, however, a reduction of one administrative post at Valley Road when Len Scrogan recently moved from director of planning and technology to assistant principal at John Witherspoon Middle School.

On Friday afternoon, Mr. Sakala said he had spent the days since the Tuesday night meeting dealing with the emotional impact both on himself and on the people around him of his leaving the high school.

"It's like leaving home after 11 years," he said. "I'm really close to these people. We've worked through a lot of things together — a lot of feelings."

After a short vacation, Mr. Sakala is expected to be at his desk at the Valley Road building beginning the week of July 16.

Fun and Fitness Fair Planned at the YWCA

A Fun and Fitness Fair is planned by the YWCA for Saturday, July 14, from 9 to 2. On the outdoor field, adults and children will find many activities to learn about the body, what makes it tick, and how to keep it fit.

Featured activities — all free — are computerized fitness analysis, blood cholesterol testing, a body-discovery obstacle course, chiropractic exams, and aerobic, karate, and gymnastics demonstrations. Healthy munchies and beverages will be offered.

As a special event for children, television's Slim Goodbody will present a musical health show at 10 and at noon. Slim's 50-minute show combines song, dance, movement and audience participation. His robot sidekick and puppet will teach children how their bodies work, the importance of good nutrition, fitness, and hygiene for a positive self-image. The theme underlines self-respect and is designed to motivate children to be the best they can be.

For more information, call the YWCA, 497-2100.

Childbirth Classes Set At the Medical Center

The Pathways Through Parenthood series of childbirth classes offered through The Medical Center at Princeton has been scheduled for the month of July. Pre-registration is required for all tours and classes.

Review of Preparation for Childbirth will be held on three consecutive Wednesdays beginning July 11 at 7:30. Preparation for Childbirth will begin this Thursday, and continue Thursdays for six weeks; the same class will be repeated beginning Tuesday, July 10, and continue Tuesdays for six weeks; and again Wednesdays starting July 11, continuing Wednesdays for six weeks. All classes begin at 7:30 p.m.

Breastfeeding class will be held Monday, July 16 at 7 p.m. Prenatal Perspectives is scheduled for Sunday, July 22 at 1 p.m. Living With Your Infant will take place Monday, July 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The Maternity Tour is scheduled for Sunday, July 1, Saturday, July 14, Sunday, July 15, Saturday, July 28 and Sunday, July 29. All tours begin at 3:30 p.m.

Sibling Class (for children 3 years and under) will be held Saturday, July 7, at 2:15 p.m. and Saturday, July 21, at 3:45 p.m. Sibling Class (for children 3 years and older) is scheduled for Thursdays at 3:45 p.m. on July 5, 12, 19 and 26.

Changing Shapes: Prenatal Exercise Class will be held Mondays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. from July 16-September 13. Postnatal Exercise Class will be held every Monday and Thursday at 4:30 p.m. from July 16-August 9. Postnatal exercise classes are available approximately six weeks after you deliver (permission from your physician is required). Babies are welcome.

Two-career expectant parents can benefit from a condensed version of Preparation for Childbirth. A solution for people with busy schedules, the classes offer the same amount of information contained in the six-week series but provided in a shortened time frame. Classes will be held on three consecutive Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. beginning August 4, and on four consecutive Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. starting August 31.

To register for classes and tours, for more information or to obtain a brochure, call 497-4480, Monday through Friday from 9 to 4:30.

August 4 Is the Date For Bike Touring Event

The Princeton Free Wheelers Bicycle Club and Kopp's Cycle will hold their 10th annual "Touring Extravaganza" on Saturday, August 4.

The event features a variety of cycling routes to accommodate both recreational and the serious cyclists ranging from a flat, 15-mile tour to a hilly, challenging 100-mile ride. Anyone who rides a bicycle safely is welcome. All riders must wear a bicycle helmet!

All rides will start and end at Rider College in Lawrence Township. Facilities include convenient access to parking, telephone and bathrooms. Suggested start times for the event are 7 a.m. for the 100-mile rides, 8 for the 50-mile and 65-mile rides, and 9 for the 25- and 15-mile rides.

The $8 registration fee includes cue sheets, road markings, light snack, water stops, and on-call sag wagons throughout the day. This year, the event will include a bicycle safety and handling clinic between 7:30 and 9:30.

Registration forms are available at Kopp's Cycle, official sponsor of the event, 43 Witherspoon Street; by writing to the Princeton Cycling Event, PO Box 1204, Princeton 08542-1204; or by calling 890-8259 evenings before 10:30 p.m. All registrations postmarked by July 25 will receive a free Event T-shirt. On-site registration will be available on the day of the ride.

Educational Programs At Plasma Physics Lab

The Summer Science program at the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory is under way. This is an eight-week research program in which juniors and seniors from area high schools are paid to work with scientists and engineers in the laboratory's magnetic fusion energy research effort. The students are nominated for the program by their high school science supervisors.

Participants from this area include Doria W. Fan of West Windsor Plainsboro High School; Edward J. Blembecki and Christina E. Lee from Hopewell Valley High School; and Jeffrey L. Claburn, Eric P. Wilfrid and Masahiro D. Yamada from Lawrence High School.

Other educational programs at PPPL this summer include a teacher research associate program for high school teachers; a two-week Teacher's Institute for middle school teachers; tours of the laboratory and a Science on Saturday lecture series.

Just Say "No" to Firecrackers

Thinking of buying or selling firecrackers in New Jersey for the Fourth? Don't!

The penalties are stiff. The sale of fireworks is a disorderly persons offense with a maximum penalty of $1,000 or up to six months in jail or both; one possessing or discharging fireworks, if convicted, faces a maximum fine of $500 or up to 30 days in jail or both.

The only fireworks that can be legally sold and used in New Jersey are paper and plastic caps for toy cap guns.

Then there is the danger of firecrackers and cherry bombs. Last year in the State there were 127 fireworks accidents, five of which resulted in amputations. Be smart. Don't buy or sell or use fireworks.

Widmer of Hopewell Valley High School, and Edward S. Nartowiz of Lawrence High School, among eight teachers from area high schools participating in the Teacher Research Associate Program. They have begun a six-week paid assistantship in the magnetic fusion energy research. Specific research will be in the areas of plasma diagnostics, microcomputers, data visualization, health physics, surface science, and x-ray lasers.

Jennifer Goldman and Laurie E. Vinsko of West Windsor-Plainsboro School District are among the 21 teachers participating in the summer Teacher's Institute for middle school students. They will receive a stipend for attending a 10-day set of workshops and activities in which they will be introduced to physics concepts and ideas for teaching these concepts in the classroom.

The two programs for teachers are being held for the first time ever; the program for high school students has been held for several summers.

HER 105TH BIRTHDAY: Leila Fales, who celebrated her 105th birthday Friday at the Princeton Nursing Home, is shown with her great-grandson, Terry Booth, and great-great granddaughter, Kristin Booth, 4. Mrs. Fales has been a resident of the home since 1978.

New programs for children highlight Aloha Hawaii for 3- to 6-year-olds, Pinata Festival for 5- to 7-year-olds, and Cool Cooking & Crazy Crafts for 7- to 10-year-olds. Pre-schoolers and parents may spend time together in popular classes such as Messy Play, Morning in the Park, and Pre-school Potpourri. Dance for children continues with pre-school and grade school classes.

Although the YWCA summer day camp is filled, the new Summer Fun Club and Gymnastics Camps provide a flexible alternative. The Fun Club for 3- to 8-year-olds offers choices of two to three mornings per week in four-week sessions. The Gym & Swim Camp (4- to 6-year-olds) and the Gymnastics Camp (girls, 7-years and up) provide one-week sessions.

Several special events are listed on the YWCA's calendar. The Fun & Fitness Fair, on Saturday, July 14, from 9 to 2, will feature testing of fitness and cholesterol, free chiropractic exams, obstacle courses, and television celebrity Slim Goodbody with musical health shows for children.

Newcomers Club coffees will welcome new residents 9:30 to 11:30 on Saturday, July 18 and August 15, in Bramwell House at the YWCA.

For more information, visit the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place or call 497-2100.

New Health Officer At Health Commission

William Hinshillwood has been named health officer for the Regional Health Department. The appointment was announced last week.

Mr. Hinshillwood, currently the health officer of Washington Township, will begin work on July 23.

He will take over a Health Department that had been wracked by dissension between former Sanitarian Drew Scalessa and former Health Officer Pat Hanson. Mr. Scalessa

Hikes Along the Canal Planned During July

The D&R Canal Watch has planned three hikes along the D&R Canal in July.

The first is a full moon walk and picnic this Friday from Princeton to Kingston. The group will meet at 8 p.m. for a picnic at Turning Basin Park Alexander Road. Participants should bring their own food, beverage and insect repellent.

Chief Park Ranger John Auciello will accompany the group on the walk in the moonlight along the towpath to Kingston, a distance of 3.9 miles. There will be opportunities to stop at Washington Road, Harrison Street (1.2 miles) or the Millstone Aqueduct (1.6 miles), and cars will be shuttled to these points.

On Sunday, July 15, a five-mile walk from Griggstown to Kingston is planned, starting at 9 a.m. Participants will meet at the parking lot on the Griggstown Causeway and should bring lunch. On Sunday, July 29, the walk will be from Turning Basin Park to Route 1 in Lawrence Township, a distance of 4.4 miles. Cars will shuttle walkers back to Turning Basin Park where they can eat the lunch they have brought.

Barbara Ross is Canal Watch's project manager for the User's Guide the organization is planning to produce. The hikes along every inch of the canal will help identify all the prominent and interesting features of the park and canal to include in the guide.

For more information call Ms. Ross at 924-2683 evenings or Babs Thomsen, 395-0693. Both numbers have answering machines.

YWCA Summer Session Offerings Are Listed

The Princeton YWCA will be an active place this summer — for swimmers, dancers, gymnasts, and exercisers of all ages — and for learning new skills in computers, language, cooking, personal development, and leisure pursuits.

A sampling of new programs for adults include Rise and Shine Aerobics at 6 a.m., Computers and Your Child, Rapid Reading, Study Procedures for students, and enticing cooking classes — A Meal in Morocco, New Mexican Fiesta, and Seafood Preparation. Other adult offerings are chess and bridge clubs, with bridge instruction starting at the beginning level. Dance, fitness, and aquatics departments continue a full listing of activities for adults.

Township Zoning Board Rejects Application To Convert Madhatter's Site to 6 Apartments

An application by Minshaw Corporation to convert the former Madhatter's Restaurant and an adjoining building at 57 Leigh Avenue to six apartments was rejected 8-0 by the Township Zoning Board at its meeting last Wednesday night. Minshaw is composed of Dwight Minton, of Hodge Road, CEO of Church & Dwight, and Bill Robertshaw, of The Great Road, a longtime property owner in the John-Witherspoon neighborhood. The property also includes a parking lot between the two buildings.

Attorney Gordon Strauss, representing Minshaw, asked the Zoning Board for a use variance to build apartments in a single-family zone. A subcommittee of the Planning Board, which reviewed the application, had recommended its rejection both to maintain the residential character of the neighborhood and to avoid increased density.

Mr. Strauss said the owners wished to rehabilitate the entire property, but that this would be economically impossible without the development of the six apartments.

Under current zoning law, the former restaurant building could be used for a restaurant downstairs and an apartment upstairs. The liquor license, however, has long been sold. The adjoining one-family house was once a rooming house, but it could not be returned to this illegal use.

Right now, a number of people whose home was destroyed by fire are being housed in the apartment over the restaurant. They were placed there by the Red Cross.

One-Bedroom Apartments
Architect Pierre Coutin's description of the size of the six proposed apartments — all one bedroom — prompted Zoning Board member Jay Bleiman to ask Zoning Officer Peter Kneski whether there was an ordinance establishing a minimum size for one-bedroom apartments in the Township.

Mr. Kneski said there was, and that it was 675 square feet. A number of the apartments described by Mr. Coutin fell below this size.

Mr. Robertshaw said he still felt six apartments of the legally allowed size would fit in the two buildings. He also said the rents would be market rents, given the neighborhood, and would begin at $600, "or a little higher."

About 25 neighbors were present in the uncomfortably hot Valley Road meeting room. Like the residents of Leigh Avenue itself, they ran the gamut from young professionals to the elderly, with black and white residents in each group.

Antoinette Branham, 91 Leigh, said the rental of $600 was too high for people of modest means. This appeared to be in rebuttal to earlier statements by Mr. Strauss that the apartments would serve the needs of those of modest income.

Parking Problem

Another neighbor noted that people are jammed into apartments and there is a problem with parking. "A one-bedroom apartment could mean three cars. It's too many people."

Mr. Robertshaw attempted to address an underlying concern at the meeting: the fact that housing units designed for a modest number of people are crowded with Latin-American tenants. This has become more and more prevalent on Leigh Avenue in the past several years.

"There is presently a large group in the Hispanic community who rent apartments and move in 16 people," he said. "As a property owner, I do try to explain that the law dictates only this number of people in this unit. I now make all of their names appear in the lease."

Several in the audience nonetheless expressed concern that the one-bedroom apartments would end up housing ten people. "We've seen it happen," said one.

A mechanism for future ownership by tenants was not included in the application. This concerned Mr. Bleiman. "This is a stable neighborhood with pride," he said. "Ownership is important to the community."

Board Member Romona Hoff, a resident of the neighborhood, said she felt apartments would present problems. She also noted that Mr. Robertshaw had owned the houses for a while, but hadn't thought of renovating before.

Board Member Edger Madsen said he had been in both buildings, and they were in sorry shape. "I don't have sympathy for an owner who allows his property to go in that state of disrepair, and then comes in and asks for the privilege of a variance."

Holding up a list of 50 neighbors who live within 200 yards of the property, he pointed out, "We really are dealing with a lot of density."

Board Member A. Perry Morgan noted that the bar and restaurant building was too small for four units, and that 13 cars could never be adequately parked in the lot.

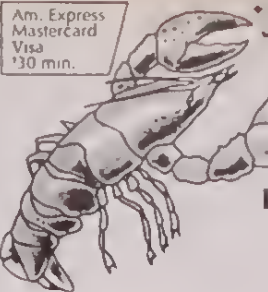

"We need to balance the legal rights of the property owners against the unique character of the neighborhood," said Mr. Bleiman.

"You have put before us a proposal we can't vote for," he added. "Six units can't fly in the Township ordinance." He suggested that the applicants think about coming back with resized apartments, and consider ways to blend a potential for ownership.

"I will vote against six. I'm not so sure I would vote against four," he said. "but that is not before us. This does not preclude you from coming back."

Early this week, Mr. Strauss said his clients had made no decision on an alternate application, but would do so soon.

Plans Move Ahead

Plans have been drawn up for a new restaurant and grocery store on the site of Abel Bagel and The Lodge. Building owner Alfred Kahn said he expects his application to be heard by the Borough's Historic Preservation Review Committee on July 11.

Mr. Kahn hopes to appear before the Regional Planning Board with his plans sometime in September.

The Abel Bagel owner wants permission to create a 36-seat restaurant in the store now housing The Lodge. The clothing store will move to Hulfish Street.

Mr. Kahn had announced earlier that the proposed restaurant would feature a Jewish-Italian deli, a grill and griddle, hags and other haked goods, and a soup and juice bar. He also said the current hagel store would be turned into a grocery. The restaurant and grocery would be called the Abel Bagel Deli and Alpha Dairy Market.

A petition favoring the application for seating in the proposed new restaurant received "thousands of signatures," said Mr. Kahn.

was fired early this year by the Health Commission. Mr. Hanson resigned his post several weeks after the firing.

Right now, Mr. Scalessa is in the process of suing both the Health Commission and Mr. Hanson over his firing.

The Health Department has been functioning for nearly half a year without a health officer and with only one sanitary inspector. The department is supposed to have three sanitary inspectors.

Council President Marvin Reed had said earlier that the new health officer would make the hiring of additional sanitary inspectors an early priority.

Ms. Strich's career includes practicing law for 10 years, sales, management, and family responsibilities. Her experience with her clients suggests that most women are not prepared for the legal consequences of divorce, child care and custody matters, responsibilities in legal contracts, and preparation for a secure financial and legal future. ### Polka Band to Play Sunday in West Windsor

Dick Chimes and his eight-piece Polish Polka Band will play Sunday, beginning at 6 p.m. in the Lions Gazebo, between the library and the Senior Center as part of the West Windsor Recreation Commission's weekly summer concert series. Composed of musicians from the Mercer County area, the orchestra has played for a number of years in the West Windsor concert series.

At 5:45 p.m., the Recreation Commission will hold a frisbee accuracy throwing contest, with prizes awarded to the winning boy and girl under 10, the winning man and woman over 60 and the most accurate man and woman thrower. Free drawings will be held during intermission for prizes donated by West Windsor businesses.

Photo Contest Offers $2,500 in Cash Prizes

Area residents are invited to enter "The Town I Live In Photo Contest," sponsored by 1st Constitution Bank in Cranbury. The contest, which runs through August 31, is open to anyone living in Mercer or Middlesex County.

Photo entries should be 35mm color prints from slides depicting what it's like to live in a Mercer or Middlesex County town. Two thousand and five hundred dollars in cash prizes will be awarded, including a $1,000 first prize and special prizes for best of show (ages 16 and under) and best of show (ages 65 and over).

Persons wishing to enter the contest may pick up an official "The Town I Live In Photo Contest" kit at 1st Constitution Bank, 796 Route 130 North. A free roll of Kodak film will be given to the first 100 people who pick up a contest kit.

A Summer Intern Is Helping the Borough Reach Out to Its Hispanic Residents

To Princeton's newest Latin-American residents, who speak little or no English, each day brings significant problems to hurdle, such as finding a home, health services, schooling, and transportation.

Andrea Hall, a Princeton Day School graduate and Vassar student, is spending her summer at Borough Hall helping to make these hurdles easier to leap. A pamphlet — coordinated by the Latin-American Task Force and to be written in Spanish, will be a basic information source that will contain descriptions of services available in the Princeton area. It will cover topics such as the school system, health services, housing and rights to housing, legal issues, church information, transportation, and how to find information using the library.

"They don't speak English very well, and usually their education stops at high school, so they don't know what's out there," said Ms. Hall. The publication, which will be about 20 pages long, will be free of charge and will be distributed through the Public Library, St. Paul's Catholic Church, and through friends of the Latin-American Task Force.

Andrea Hall was hired by Borough Hall this summer to help coordinate and translate the Task force pamphlet into Spanish. A philosophy major, avid squash player, and writer — who has just finished her sophomore year — she wanted to switch gears this summer. She also became interested in local government.

"I'm taking the year off from school. I knew I wanted to do some internships in the meantime to figure out career-wise where to go when I graduate." After interviewing with Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Borough Administrator Mark Gordon, Ms. Hall was offered an internship that was perfectly tailored to her skills.

Each year, there has been a steady influx of Latin-American immigrants into Princeton. As particular nationalities tend to settle in certain towns, it appears that the majority of Princeton's immigrants are Guatemalan and Mexican. It was in response to this population rise that The Latin-American Task Force — a Princeton organization of approximately 30 to 40 individuals — was formed. Most members have ties to Latin-America in some way; some individuals are of Latin extract or have travelled or lived in Central America, and a few are from Princeton University and area churches and schools.

Spanish Newsletter, Mass

Aside from publishing the Spanish pamphlet, the Task Force is also concentrating its efforts on producing a newsletter in Spanish, and has recently arranged a two o'clock mass to be held in Spanish every Sunday through the summer at St. Paul Roman Catholic Church.

Religion is one constant, familiar and very important haven to the Latin-Americans. "Most of them are Catholic, and it plays a very big role in their lives," said Ms. Hall.

Though it is difficult to determine the exact number of immigrants who have come to Princeton in the last few years, Lucy Mackenzie, Borough councilwoman and chairperson of the Latin-American Task Force, estimates that there are between 500 and 1000 immigrants of Latin-American origin in Princeton today. These immigrants, a number of whom are undocumented, have settled in the general vicinity of Witherspoon Street, Leigh Avenue and Pine Street. "Our aim is to help them become integrated into this society. They are poor and have problems getting housing," said Ms. Mackenzie.

The obvious shortage of low-income housing in Princeton presents a quagmire to these foreigners. The language barrier adds another stumbling block. Included in the housing section of the pamphlet will be information outlining general housing laws and rights, specifically "legal rights they have as tenants — things that are obvious to American tenants that they don't know about," said Ms. Hall.

Fluent Spanish

Her family moved to Mexico City when she was 3, when her father was transferred by his company. They then moved to Princeton when she was 11. The young woman is now using her fluent Spanish to help bridge the difficult language gap that the Latin-Americans face as they move to foreign territory. Not only will she translate all of the information in the pamphlet — as well as contact the necessary people in the community to determine the available services — but she is also working with the Arts Council on the design of the piece.

In addition, she has agreed to take on the role of interpreter. One day a week, she will be available at the Princeton Medical Center for those Latin-Americans who need medical help but who are unable to speak sufficient English. At present, the only Spanish-speaking employees at the Medical Center are a nutritionist and a part-time clerk.

Some of the other projects Andrea works on at the Borough when not concentrating on the pamphlet include determining the percentage of taxable properties in different counties, and putting together a scrapbook on Mayor Sigmund since her illness. Ms. Hall feels lucky to be working with Mayor Sigmund. "She is amazing — she's been so strong."

The Latin-American Task Force hopes to publish the pamphlet by the end of the summer, before Ms. Hall's internship is completed. Ms. Hall plans to work in Princeton through the fall to save money for her spring semester, when she hopes to travel to France to study.

She says, after her first month at work, "I really lucked out — it's a great internship." Lucy Mackenzie will be sad to see Andrea go this August: "She's a gem, and I'll be lost without her. She has made the job of the Task Force a delight, and is so helpful in every conceivable way. We are very fortunate to have her."

DKM Site Has Problems With Water Management

To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is a letter I have sent to Paul Inverso, Department of Environmental Protection, Bureau of Enforcement.

I am writing to alert you to environmentally hazardous actions by the company DKM in their execution of what appears to be an ill-thought-out water management design in their golf course for the Cherry Valley Country Club on The Great Road in Montgomery Township.

I first became aware of a problem four weeks ago when I arrived home from work to discover that Bedens Brook, which runs across my backyard, was the color of red clay and very muddy. I was extremely puzzled as the brook is usually clear except several hours or so after heavy rainfall. I walked down to the bridge on Mountainview Road where a small tributary enters Bedens Brook. Sure enough the stream was the same color as the brook east of the bridge. However I also noticed that Bedens Brook west of the Mountainview bridge was completely clear.

Later that week I noticed that a newly constructed pond on the Cherry Valley Golf Course was the same color as the water in the brook in my yard. After a closer inspection I discovered that the pond was draining into the tiny tributary that crosses under The Great Road and enters Bedens Brook at Mountainview Road by the bridge.

I quickly called several neighbors who told me that they had already called the Montgomery Township engineer's office. They had been told that DKM was well aware of the problem and was working on a solution. It seems that DKM was having difficulty controlling the runoff from all the construction.

I waited a week. Every day I would come home to find the brook in the same muddy condition. Many types of wildlife thrive on this part of the brook: snowy egrets, great blue heron, little green herons, bull frogs, bass, turtles, muskrats, mallards, Canada geese and kingfishers to name a few.

I soon noticed that I hadn't seen the bass jumping, the blue heron stalking, the kingfisher diving and the chorus of bull frogs in the evening was down to a couple of faint croaks. Life on this wonderful stretch of the brook was either dying or moving elsewhere. I was angry and determined to take any action necessary to help undo this terrible wrong.

On June 7, I phoned Mike Kendzierski of the Montgomery Township engineering office to report the problem. He told me that he had just met with representatives of DKM and Somerset County Soil Conservation and that the soil conservation people were satisfied the problem was under control.

So I called Jay Hanco of that office and asked him to meet me at my home on Wednesday, June 13, which is his day to do inspections in this area. I then called DKM to alert them to my concern and was told by Mike Devine, a site supervisor, that DKM was meeting all the state and county requirements, but that he would inspect the brook and call me back. He never did.

The brook continues to run muddy day after day. I alerted The Stony Brook Watershed Association and the Montgomery Township Environmental Commission to my concern. Pat Bagel of the Watershed agreed to meet Jay Hanco and me on June 13. The three of us spent an hour examining the condition of the water and discussing what action I might take. They both urged me to write directly to you.

After two weeks of speaking with experts, I have come to the following conclusions:

1. DKM's design for the series of five ponds on the golf course did not adequately take into account the highly erodible nature of the soils and terrain or the high water table due to springs that feed the tributary all year round.

2. DKM has left acres of land exposed for two months, which has resulted in continuous run-off of silt and topsoil into the tributary that empties into Bedens Brook.

3. Starting and maintaining a golf course requires extensive fertilization. If DKM does not solve their runoff problems immediately, the life of Bedens Brook is in grave danger, either from the heavy silting (already taking place) or from future high doses of algae caused by fertilizer run-off.

4. DKM's actions constitute a dangerous threat to the quality of water in Bedens Brook and its neighboring tributary, not to mention downstream as it runs into the Millstone River.

5. DKM does not seem to be acting responsibly. Plans are under way to establish a Water Watch Program so that the impact of future development of the golf course and 400 homes can be carefully monitored.

I urge you to do whatever you can to force DKM to restore this beautiful brook to its condition prior to excavation by DKM and to make sure that they are prevented from polluting its waters in the future.

Your Dollars Can Help Save the Mercer Oak

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Mercer Oak, as a young tree, stood on the Princeton Battlefield as the battle between the British and American troops raged underneath it. This tree stood between the opposing forces when General Washington rushed back from near Nassau Hall to take command of the battle, and won the first victory for the ragged American forces. Under this tree General Mercer was bayoneted by the British after he surrendered.

For more than two hundred years, this tree has been a symbol of New Jersey's role in the Revolution. Now it has a deep wound, a split resulting from the storm last week. The branches were heavy with rain when a wind squall hit, causing the split by twisting and bending the tree.

Now the Mercer Oak is in danger, because another wind and rain storm could cause the split to go completely through the tree, and break it in half. This comes at a time when the tree is the healthiest it has been in years. Little clusters of acorns are at the ends of the twigs, and the leaves are glossy and thick. This is partly due to the good growing season and partly due to the care given the Mercer Oak by the Princeton Battlefield Society.

For the Bicentennial we set up a fund which contributes to maintenance, furnishings at the Clarke House and other needs. Among other things, we pay for care for the 18th Century heavy side to lighten the unbalanced weight of the branch distribution. The repairs need to be done immediately. Mr. Willard says the tree is healthy and should live for years to come if taken care of now.

The Continental Insurance Company of Cranbury, whose symbol is a Continental soldier, will contribute funds sufficient to pay for a new lightning rod, and for immediate emergency tree repair. The Princeton Battlefield Society expresses its gratitude to Continental Insurance Company.

If you would like to make a contribution toward feeding the Mercer Oak, to handle other future emergencies and to preserve other 18th and 19th Century trees, as well as to maintain the dogwood trees contributed by the public and the Battlefield Society for the Bicentennial, we would be most appreciative. Other needs will arise in the future, hopefully not as drastic as the current split in the tree.

We invite you to send $5 (or more) to Mercer Oak, c/o Richard Baker, President, Princeton Battlefield Society, One Armour Road, Princeton, NJ 08540. The check should be made out to the Princeton Battlefield Society. I thank you on behalf of the Mercer Oak.

It's Lyme Disease Season

It's a beautiful summer day. The woods beckon. It's the time for hikers, children, and even casual outdoor enthusiasts to explore nature. But it's also the season when ticks that can spread Lyme disease are active.

Lyme disease has been reported in every county in New Jersey and throughout much of the United States. Ninety percent of cases are centered in three areas, the northeast and mid-Atlantic states, the upper midwest, and the west coast.

Spread by Tiny Ticks

The bacterium that causes Lyme disease is spread by a tick — a deer tick in our part of the country. Smaller than a poppy seed, the tick does not fly, but jumps onto a person or animal. Ticks are commonly found in the woods, in brush, and in tall grass.

It is important that you know how to protect yourself and your family from this potentially serious condition. The first step is prevention. When going to areas where you might come in contact with ticks, wear light-colored clothing — so the tick is more visible — closed shoes, and long pants. Tuck your shirt into your pants and your pant legs into your socks. Use an insecticide containing the repellent known as DEET. For children, use the repellent only on clothing, not skin.

Shower and Check

Shower when you return from an outing to wash away any ticks that have not yet attached to your body. Check yourself and your children carefully, particularly behind the knees, in the groin area and under the arms. Ticks usually spend many hours seeking a place to feed, so generally there is time to find and remove a tick.

If you find one attached, don't panic. Do remove it promptly. Infection is not transmitted immediately after attachment, so quick removal is important.

Using tweezers, grasp the tick as close to the skin as possible and pull with a steady, upward motion. Be careful not to squeeze, twist or jerk the tick, causing parts to break off or fluid to enter the body. Do not handle the tick. If your doctor wants to examine the tick, save it; if not, flush it down the toilet. Remove any remaining parts as you would a splinter. Wash your hands and the area with a skin disinfectant.

Using nail polish, kerosene, gasoline, petroleum jelly, or heat from a lighted cigarette or match are not effective in removing ticks, and may be harmful.

Early Diagnosis Is Important

If infection has occurred, early diagnosis and prompt treatment are important. The first symptoms can occur from two days to several weeks after the tick bite. The characteristic rash, resembling a bull's eye, occurs in about half the cases. Other early symptoms are flu-like: fever, chills, headache, muscle and joint pain.

If you suspect Lyme disease, consult a physician. Prompt treatment with antibiotics, after the diagnosis is confirmed, is effective and avoids complications that can affect the heart, nervous system and joints.

Knowing about the disease is the first step in prevention and in the safe enjoyment of the outdoors.

The Lyme Disease Center at UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School has a hot line, 1-800-245-LYME, to help answer questions.

Unusual Art Exhibit At Watershed Ass'n

The gallery of the Buttinger Environmental Awareness Center of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association will show "The Satiric Iconography of J. Chester Farnsworth: Environment, Ecology, and Animal Behavior," from July 14 through the end of August. The show will open with a reception for the artist and the public from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, July 14.

J. Chester Farnsworth is the artistic pseudonym of a local biology professor. Farnsworth is best known for his satirical collages made from parts of discarded computers and other refuse. This show features works that poke fun at human pretensions while simultaneously conveying important ecological messages.

For example, in Jersey Shore, the sea attacks sand dunes from one side while condos, represented by repetitive electronic circuits, attack from the other. Computer boards, with chip-packages looking like clustered housing, are set in naturalistic model railroad scenery in Suburban Forest, as a remainder of the perilous fragmentation of our natural forests.

The Museum of Vanishing Species is a shadow box with empty jars, pins, and perches, all with blank labels in memoriam of the many species that humans will extinguish before they even get names. A circuit board that looks like a light industrial complex, called "Silicon Valley," is split by a fault line that emphasizes the natural frailty of human endeavor.

"KEEPSAKE II," a work in steel and lead by Lauren Ewing, who teaches at Rutgers University, will be included in a summer exhibition, "Two Generations of Sculptors: New Jersey Teachers and Their Students," on display from July 13 through August 26 at The Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb.

A flat piece called Heortland is in the shape of the state of Iowa, and bears the legend, "Any resemblance to actual places, living or dead, is their own fault." Electronic components with wire leads arranged as legs are Computer Bugs Returning from a Kill, attacking a modem, butchering it, and carrying pieces back to their hive. Glitch shows what happens when a computer mouse stumbles into a rat trap.

The gallery is open Wednesday through Saturday from 10 to 5. For further information call Jeff Hoagland at 737-7592.

Craft Workshops Due At the Arts Council

Craft workshops for children in grades 2 through 7 will be offered by Susan Kriegman at the Arts Council from July 11 through August 17.

The classes, which meet one day a week from 4 to 5:30, are in jewelry, puppetry, and weaving.

For further information, call Ms. Kriegman at 275-6553 by Tuesday.

Exhibits

The Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb will open an exhibition "Two Generations of Sculptors: New Jersey Teachers and Their Students," on July 13. It will continue through August 26. The public is invited to an opening reception on Sunday, July 15, from 3 to 5 p.m. The gallery is located in Bristol-Myers Squibb Pharmaceutical Group Headquarters on Route 206.

Seven sculptors who teach in New Jersey colleges or universities will be represented by one work each, and they will each choose a student to exhibit one work.

The participating teaching sculptors include Melvin Edwards and Lauren Ewing, both from the Mason Gross School of the Arts, Rutgers University; Ming Fay, William Paterson College; Bradford Graves, Fairleigh Dickinson University; Gary Kuehn, Mason Gross School of the Arts; Patricia Lay, Montclair State College; and James Seawright, Princeton University. These artists all exhibit widely throughout the United States and internationally.

An exhibition of work in mixed media by Lanie Lee will be at the Conant Gallery, Educational Testing Service through August 8.

Among the seven pieces featured in the show will be a diptych, the artist's "Anima Gorge" reliefs, and a triptych entitled "Lost Landscapes."

The gallery is open weekdays from 9 to 4.

An art exhibit featuring works by Morgan Lidle will open at the Princeton Medical Center in the dining room on Friday, July 20, at 4 p.m. with a wine and cheese reception. The show will run until Thursday, September 13.

Ms. Lidle, a native of New Jersey, now lives and works in Philadelphia. She graduated from the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and also received a degree in fine arts from Tufts University.

News of the THEATRES

"Three Postcards" Next For Summer Theater

Princeton Summer Theater, a student-run organization presenting three plays at Murray-Dodge Theatre this summer, will open its second show, Three Postcards, by Craig Lucas and Craig Cernelia on Thursday, July 12, at 8.

Mr. Lucas is the author of the Off-Broadway hit, Prelude to a Kiss, the new film, Longtime Companion, and the award-winning play Blue Window. Three Postcards is a one-act musical drama set in a chic Manhattan restaurant. The "postcards" in the title represent three women friends who get together to relive old times.

A piano player and waiter serve as musical and psychological instigators so that these three women can break apart from one another and share, through music, what is really going on in their minds. While the waiter serves his three customers, he takes on different characters — the husband of one woman, the tormentor of another.

Performances are at 8 Thursday, Friday and Sunday, and at 7 and 10 on Saturday. Tickets are $7 Thursday and Sunday, $10 Friday and Saturday, with a special rate of $5 for senior citizens on Sunday and $5 for students with ID to the 10 p.m. Saturday show. For reservations call 258-4950.

IN REHEARSAL: Noel Fairbrother, Kristen Bancroft and Laguya Rogers be-bop as Little Jane, Big Jane and K.C. in Craig Lucas' musical drama "Three Postcards," opening Thursday, July 12, at Murray-Dodge Theatre. The play is the second offering of Princeton Summer Theater, which is presenting the final performances of Larry Shue's "The Nerd" this weekend.

Two Contemporary Films At Kresge Auditorium

Summer Cinema '90 continues this week with two films by young filmmakers: Gus Van Sant Jr.'s Drugstore Cowboy and Steven Soderbergh's sex, lies and videotape. Summer Cinema films are shown in the air-conditioned Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building on Washington Road. Times Thursday and Friday are 7:30 for Cowboy and 9:15 for sex, lies and videotape. On Saturday and Sunday, sex, lies will show at 7:30 and Cowboy at 9:20.

In Drugstore Cowboy Matt Dillon and Kelly Lynch play a bedraggled and stoned young outlaw couple. Too out of it for work or sex, they spend their days plotting the ripoffs, the getaways, the desperate journeys that make up a druggie's weirdly purposeful existence.

The film takes the point of view of Bob Hughes (Dillon), a young doper-thief with a cracked sense of himself as an existential adventurer. His extended family of junkies includes his wife Dianne (Lynch), his dumb sidekick Rick (James Le Gros) and Rick's young junkie-in-training girlfriend Nadine (Heather Graham).

Van Sant finds both the humor and the horror in their day-to-day, fix-to-fix existence, in their rhythm of frenzied activity and homed-out catatonia. He sees his characters as gallant losers — stupid, perhaps but not entirely without courage.

Drugstore Cowboy is not pro-drug. Instead, Van Sant tries to capture the addict's life from the inside. The result is certainly the most honest drug movie ever made, one which gets the details right and lets the audience draw its own conclusions.

sex, lies and videotape, a fascinating, eccentric first feature by 26-year-old writer-director Steven Soderbergh, stunned the Cannes Festival last year and took away the Grand Prize. Filmed in Baton Rouge for a mere $1.2 million, the film is an absorbing tale of sexual greed and fear, love and betrayal.

There are four central characters: Ann, a beautiful, frigid wife (Andie MacDowell); her adulterous husband (Peter Gallagher) who is having an illicit affair with Ann's younger and vengeful sister (Laura San Giacomo), and Graham (James Spader), a wounded but clever outsider whose volatile presence alters the chemistry of all their lives. The film evolves into an intricate dance of constantly changing partners, whose connections are based on truth, self-denial and outright deception.

Spader's Graham, (who won the Best Actor prize at Cannes) is Soderbergh's most disturbing, provocative and perceptive creation. The unluckiest moral hero in recent movies, he is the voyeur who brings enlightenment, and the instrument of Soderbergh's notion that confessing is itself a sexual act, and that sexual confession is more erotic than sex itself.

Discount books for ten admissions are now available at the McCarter box office or Kresge Auditorium during show times. Single admission to all double feature programs is $4.50. For more information call 683-8000, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

'The Fantasticks' Due At Theatre-by-the-Lake

After a three-year hiatus, Theatre-by-the-Lake, at The Peddie School in Hightstown, will present The Fantasticks, the musical celebrating its 30th year.

The performances will be on Friday and Saturday this weekend and next at 8 and at matinee performances on Sundays, July 8 and 15, at 2. The performances will be given in the newly refurbished and airconditioned Geiger-Reeves Hall on The Peddie School campus in Hightstown.

The Fantasticks is a tuneful show which tells the story of boy-meets-girl, boy-loses-girl, and boy-regains-girl with simplicity, humor and also much well-loved music, including "Try to Remember" and "Soon it's Going to Rain." The production is directed by Al Viola, new chairman of the Fine Arts department at Peddie with musical direction by TBTL veteran, Frank Towne, a chemistry teacher at Peddie. The show stars Boh Stuhlman as the Narrator, Danielle Shylit as the young girl, and Tim Giordano, as the young boy. Playing the two fathers will be Steve Ruhen and Steve Rasi. Others in the cast include TBTL co-founder, Jeffrey Holcombe, as Henry, the old actor; Mike Stewart as Mortimer and Peddie student Mike Gilpin as the Mute.

Ticket prices for the evening performances are $10 and for the two Sunday matinees are $8. For reservations and further information, call 443-6898 or the box office at 490-7549.

Auditions

Creative Theatre, a not-for-profit professional theatre for young audiences, will hold auditions for its 1990/91 adult acting company. Late afternoon and early evening auditions will be held on Monday, July 16, and morning auditions on Tuesday, July 24.

For information on audition requirements and to schedule an audition appointment call Eloise Bruce, 924-3489.

All-Female Quartet Set For Richardson Concert

The second concert in the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concert series will feature the Cavani String Quartet, who will perform Tuesday at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Admission is free.

The Cavani String Quartet was formed in 1984, and has rapidly established itself as an exciting young ensemble. The quartet is composed of violinists Annie Fullard and Susan Waterbury, violist Erika Eckert, and cellist Merry Peckham.

The program will begin with Mozart's String Quartet in C Major, K. 157. The second piece will be Donald Erb's String Quartet No. 2, which was commissioned for the Cavani by the Walter W. Naumburg Foundation. Following intermission the group will perform the Quartet in F Major, Op. 95 American, by Antonin Dvorak.

Winners of the 1989 Naumburg Chamber Music Award, the Cavani Quartet has also been first prize winner at the Cleveland Quartet and the Cnrmel competitions. The Cavani is now in residence at The Cleveland Institute of Music. During the 1988-89 season they collaborated with the Cleveland Quartet, which will appear here on August 1, in performing the Mendelssohn Octet.

Although the 1990 Summer Chamber Concerts are all indoors this year because of renovations at the Graduate

THE CAVANI STRING QUARTET will perform a work by Donald Erb commissioned for it by the Walter W. Naumburg Foundation at its concert Tuesday in Richardson Auditorium. Also on the program are string quartets by Mozart and Dvorak.

College, the outdoor spirit is still alive. The University will allow picnicking on the grass before the concerts behind Alexander Hall and on Cannon Green. Picnickers are reminded to pick up and take away all picnic debris.

Concerts Are Listed At the Choir College

Summer concerts continue this week at Westminster Choir College with a number of voice recitals and a variety of events. All events are open to the public free of charge and take place in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus unless otherwise noted.

Katherine McClure, flute, and Marianne Lauffer, piano, will perform a recital of all French music, Sunday at 8. Ms. McClure and Ms. Lauffer are faculty members at Westminster Conservatory of Music, and Ms. Lauffer is director of the Conservatory's Mercerville Extension Division.

Organist Joan Lippincott will present a recital at Trinity Church, Monday at 7. Ms. Lippincott is head of the organ department at Westminster Choir College. At 8 p.m. in Bristol Chapel, John Bertalot will conduct the weekly Hymn Sing, where audience members sing hymns selected along a central theme chosen by the guest conductor. Mr. Bertalot is director of music at Trinity Church.

This week's Summer Sing on Tuesday at 8 will feature Constantina Tsolainou conducting audience members in a reading of Arthur Honegger's King David. Ms. Tsolainou is assistant professor of conducting at Westminster. Scores will be available at the door.

On Wednesday, July 11, Baritone Gary Gavula will present a recital with Stephen Peet, pianist, at 7. At 8:30 p.m. the Westminster Summer High School Vocal Camp will present a voice recital featuring Ellen Lang, soprano; Lindsey Christiansen, mezzo-soprano; Thomas Faracco, tenor, and Ted Barr, baritone. The singers are all faculty members at the camp and are members of the voice department at Westminster Choir College.

Michael Majeski, organist, will present a program of 10 voluntaries by English composers of the late 18th century Tuesday, July 12, at 7. The recital will be in the First Room, which is located in Bristol Chapel. At 8:30 p.m. the Stockton Vocal Quartet with Stephen Peet, pianist, will present a recital of music for vocal quartets including works by Haydn and Schubert, early English madrigals, and Schumann's Spanisches Liederspiel. Members of the Stockton Vocal Quartet include

June Opera's "American Songbook" Evening A Good Introduction to the American Art Song

One of the most significant aspects of the June Opera Festival has been its ability to attract young, versatile singers who can excel in several different performance genres, not just opera. To this end, June Opera annually presents, interspersed among the nights of opera, an evening of art songs performed by members of one or both operatic casts. This year's American Songbook featured an array of songs based on a wide range of poetry. Although unfortunately performed by fewer singers than in previous years, this annual songfest nonetheless provided entertaining texts, some sensitive singing, and a good introduction to the American art song.

The three singers selected this year to perform in this program were sopranos Linda Wall and Karen Smith Emerson, and baritone Gregory Powell. From the start, Ms. Wall and Ms. Emerson captivated the audience (which was significantly increased over last year's attendance at the art song program) through their command of the repertoire and their charming and effective acting. In contrast, Mr. Powell chose to perform holding a notebook full of scores, which immediately broke down the line of communication between performer and audience and gave one the impression that perhaps he did not know his music. Because there were so few performers in the program, the illusion was created of a "Lady's Night Out" on the art song stage.

Soprano Linda Wall began the evening with a set of songs by Stephen Foster. Ms. Wall, currently portraying the role of Donna Elvira in Don Giovanni, has a full operatic voice which ably fills the hall, and she effectively brought its "operaticness" under control for these more quiet songs. Oh! Susanna, in particular, was performed with spirited lightheartedness.

Ms. Wall chose as her other "set" to perform later in the program selections from Aaron Copland's 12 Poems of Emily Dickinson. Ms. Wall was able to sing out more on these songs without compromising the nature of the selections, and the poetry is so marvelous that she was able to capture the audience's attention almost continuously. Most superbly sung was Heart, we will forget him, a beautiful arrangement in itself.

Karen Smith Emerson, currently performing as Adele in Die Fledermaus, has a much lighter voice and style than Ms. Wall, and brought her talents to songs by Dominick Argento, Samuel Barber, and Milton Babbitt. Ms. Emerson has a free, light sound which ably handled the wide ranges of Argento's Winter, as well as conveying a stunning sense of line required for Hymn. Samuel Barber's Three Songs, Op. 45, also performed by Ms. Emerson, were haunting songs with unusual words, and such titles as Now Have I Fed and Eaten Up the Rose and A Green Lowland of Pianos. These songs were very well sung by Ms. Emerson, and could easily have failed in performance had not her clear diction been so good at conveying the unique texts.

Ms. Emerson's third set, a pair of songs by Milton Babbitt, fit right into the scheme of a sultry summer night's performance. Unfortunately, there were no program notes to indicate when these songs were written, but in comparison with the Babbitt work performed by The American Boychoir a few weeks ago, these were positively tonal.

Baritone Gregory Powell (currently playing the comic Dr. Falke in Die Fledermaus), built his art song presentation around the songs of Charles Ives and Elliott Carter. Despite the hindrance of holding a score, Mr. Powell's selections were well-acted, and the Ives songs in particular were good choices of repertoire to perform. The Ives version of At the River was especially welcome, since most concert-goers are only familiar with Aaron Copland's arrangement. General William Booth Enters into Heaven was especially difficult to pull off as a solo selection; it has also been arranged for chorus and is perhaps more effective as an ensemble piece. Mr. Powell did find good contrast between the sometimes ferocious text and the recurring Are you washed in the blood of the Lamb? Vocally, this piece was the best performed of the set.

All three soloists ended the program with a series of lighter songs, including selections by Richard Rodgers, George Gershwin, Cole Porter, and Jerome Kern. These selections provided the singers with the chance to pull out all stops with the acting, and were crowd-pleasers as well.

The success or failure of an art song recital is equally as dependent upon the competence of the accompanist as well as the singer, and in this case, these singers were blessed with more than capable playing. Pianists Jeffrey Goldberg and William Gokelman did a paramount job in keeping with the singers, especially in some exceptionally difficult accompaniments. Mr. Goldberg displayed some creativity in providing a pseudo-hammered dulcimer effect for Foster's My Old Kentucky Home, and one wonders if he was slyly augmenting the accompaniment to Oh! Susanna with some contemporary jazz. Both of these accompanists are well accomplished in keeping the lines of communication open between singer and pianist, which added to the special flavor of the evening.

The June Opera Festival continues through the next week with performances of Die Fledermaus and Don Giovanni. Die Fledermaus will be performed again on July 6 and July 8, and Don Giovanni will be presented on July 7. Information about any of these performances can be obtained by calling 737-7711.

Young Piano Players Win $3,900 in Awards

The Greater Trenton Symphony Foundation has announced the winners of its 1990 Mary Simon Gindhart Piano Competition for students in grades seven through 12. Nine prizes totalling $3,900 were awarded in three age categories following the final round of auditions held at the Rider College Fine Arts Theatre.

In the seventh and eighth grade category, the first prize of $500 was awarded to Damien F. Dixon of Lawrenceville, an eighth grade student at Lawrence Middle School. The second prize of $300 was given to Patty Huang of Lawrenceville, a seventh grade student at West Windsor-Plainsboro Middle School. The third prize of $200 was given to August L. Hearn of Pennington, an eighth grade student at Timberlane Junior High School.

All three prizes in the ninth and tenth grade category went to students at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School: the first prize of $700 was awarded to tenth grader Charles Park of Lawrenceville; the second prize of $500 was given to tenth grader Cindy Hsu of Princeton Junction; the third prize of $250 was given to ninth grader Ellen Hwang of Robbinsville.

In the 11th and 12th grade category, all three prizes went to 11th graders: the first prize of $700 was awarded to Lahn-Young You of Lawrenceville, a student at Princeton Day School; the second prize of $500 was given to Mark H. Lee of Levittown, Pa., a student at Neshaminy High School; the third prize of $250 was given to Amanda Clarfield of Princeton, a student at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School.

Participants in the Gindhart Competition must reside within a 17-mile radius of Trenton. Application to the competition is by recommendation from

The Best of Broadway

The Allan P. Kirby Arts Center on the campus of The Lawrenceville School will be the site on Thursday, July 12, of "The Best of Broadway," a program featuring solos, ensembles, and scenes from popular operettas and musical comedies. Composers include Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg, Frank Loesser, Kurt Weill, Jules Styne, Stephen Sondheim, Harold Arlen, and Duke Ellington.

The entertainment is one of three programs being presented by the National Chorale in the Fifth Annual New Jersey Festival of American Music Theatre and is under the direction of Martin Josman. Admission is free and ample free parking is available. The performance starts at 7:30 p.m. For additional information, call 896-0400.

area piano teachers. Further information regarding the competition may be obtained by calling the Trenton Symphony office at 394-1338.

Violinist and Pianist To Give Joint Recital

The first of a series of free recitals and sampler concerts, part of the 1990 Waterloo Festival of the Arts, will take place Thursday at 7:30 at Richardson Auditorium.

Violinist Lucie Robert, who is on the faculty this year for the Waterloo Festival School of Music, will be joined by pianist Jeffrey Cohen, who is also her husband. Both are on the faculty of the Manhattan School of Music. As a duo they have toured extensively throughout the United States, Canada, Latin America and the Far East.

The program will include Sonata in D Major, Opus 1, No. 13 by G.F. Handel; Sonata in A Major, Opus 13, by Gabriel Faure; and Sonata Opus 47 (Krautzen) by Beethoven. A native of Canada, Ms. Robert won first prize at the Conservatoire de Musique de Montreal and then continued her studies with Josef Gingold. She has appeared with several orchestras, including the Mexico City Philharmonic and the Orchestre Symphonique de Quebec.

Mr. Cohen is an American who has worked extensively with the noted pianist Menahem Pressler of the Beaux Arts Trio. He is a past laureate of the Beethoven Foundation and a prize winner in the Sherman-City Steinway Piano Competition.

NOW ACCEPTING

2 1/2-year-olds through Grade III including Pre-K and curricula for the gifted.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

We do not discriminate against race, color or creed.

Princeton Post 76 Falter; Post 218 Is Still Winless

Is the pressure getting to Princeton Post 76? Will Princeton Post 218 ever get that first win?

The answers will not be long in coming, as the Mercer County American Legion League race enters its final third of the season. Currently, the teams have a four-day break over the holiday, when the Mercer County All-Star team will play the Bucks County All-Star squad on July 4th.

Action will resume Thursday when Post 76 hosts Hopewell and Post 218 entertains Bordentown at its Valley Road Field. On Friday, Post 218 will face its rival Princeton team, Post 76, for the second time this season when they clash at 5:45 at Mercer Park.

Both teams will also be in action on Tuesday when Post 218 will host Broad Street Park and Post 76 will be at Hightstown. After the Hightstown contest, Post 76 will have only four regular season games remaining.

Following its 4-3 loss in the last inning to Bordentown Sunday, Post 76 won two and lost two last week. Over the past seven games, Post 76 is 3-4 and it has surrendered its league lead in the process. Post 76 and Hamilton Post 31 are both 11-5 and a few percentage points behind Broad Street Park — in first place with a 10-4 record — and second-place Hightstown which is 9-4.

Sunday at Gilder Field in Bordentown, Post 76 broke a 2-2 tie in the last inning when Matt McClenahan jumped on a 3-2 pitch to single home Paul Pearlman, who had singled and stolen second. But Post 76 reliever Peter Prodanov could not hold the lead. With runners on second and third, Bordentown pulled out the "W" when second baseman Ed Yaris belted a 350-foot double to center to score the tying and winning runs. Prodanov took the loss after relieving starter Jeff Skalinski with two out in the fifth. McClenahan and Pearlman combined for four of Post 76's eight hits.

On Friday, it was Post 76's turn to win a one-run game. Manager Larry Bender's club scored single runs in the first and third and then hung on to eke out a 2-1 triumph over Trenton Post 93.

Shawn Murphy (5½ innings) and Mike Andolina combined to

One of the best teams in baseball history was the Cincinnati "Big Red Machine" of 1975 and 1976, which won over 100 games each year and won the World Series both years ... Can you name the regular starting lineup of the Big Red Machine? ... It was: (1B) Tony Perez ... (2B) Joe Morgan ... (SS) Dave Concepcion ... (3B) Pete Rose ... (C) Johnny Bench ... (LF) George Foster ... (CF) Cesar Geronimo ... (RF) Ken Griffey.

Fed up with Blue Cross rate increases? Call us about low cost medical insurance.

It seems hard to believe, but the Los Angeles Dodgers have had only 2 managers in their entire history ... Since the Brooklyn Dodgers moved to Los Angeles in 1958 and became the Los Angeles Dodgers, the team's only 2 managers have been Walter Alston from 1958 through 1976, and Tom Lasorda from 1977 to 1990.

Here's a surprising fact ... In just circling the bases after his 755 home runs, Hank Aaron ran 51.48 miles ... One trip around the bases is 360 feet, and when Aaron made that trip 755 times, it means he ran 271,800 feet — or 51.48 miles!

hurl a five-hitter for the victors. McClenahan, Andolina and Greg Papciak all stroked doubles for Post 76, which was also limited to five hits by losing pitcher Chris Russell. Prodanov had an RBI single while McClenahan had two hits and scored a run for Princeton.

In two earlier games, Post 76 split. It was upset, 4-2, by Mitchell Davis and it began the week with a fine 6-2 win over Hamilton. The upset loss to Mitchell Davis hurt. In the sixth with the game tied at two, Post 76 opened the door to M-D when it committed an error with two away. The struggling M-D team took advantage, as Ben Turner tripled in the go-ahead run and then scored on Angelo Zeppadoro's double.

Post 76 was stifled at the plate by winning pitcher Enrico Smalley, who allowed just three hits. McClenahan and Jason Rizzo each drove in a run for Post 76.

Skalinski got the win over Hamilton, as Post 76 jumped to a 4-0 lead after two innings. The win was his third against one loss. He and Andolina, who pitched the last two innings, held Hamilton to just four hits.

McClenahan, who has been a surprise this year for Bender with his consistent hitting, and shortstop Scott Petrone each had a pair of hits for Post 76 and drove in three runs between them. Greg Papciak and Greg Schwartz contributed doubles to Post 76's 10-hit attack.

We're Going to Surprise Somebody

Princeton Post 218 manager Tom Parker keeps predicting that his first-year team is going to surprise somebody, but so far it hasn't happened in 15 tries. Failure to get the key hit, a breakdown in the field, the lack of an overpowering pitcher have combined to keep Parker's eager and spirited club winless.

After suffering back-to-back 10-0 losses to Hightstown on Friday and to Hopewell on Thursday, Post 218 had its bats working again on Sunday when it scored seven runs in the first two innings against Lawrence Post 414. The seven runs were the most Post 218 had scored this season.

Trouble was, Lawrence's bats were alive, too. Three players connected for two-run doubles in the second inning when the home team erupted for seven runs to erase Post 218's early lead. Lawrence also belted three home runs in the free-swinging contest to end with a 17-7 triumph.

Catcher Joe Hayek had two

Legion All-Star Game

The annual July 4th all-star game between an American Legion all-star team from Mercer County and one from Bucks County (Pa.) will take place this year in New Jersey. The game will be held Wednesday evening at 7 at Moody Park in Trenton.

This year, Princeton Post 76 with four has the most players on the all-star squad, which is selected by the league managers.

Heading Post 76's quartet is veteran catcher Greg Papciak who is batting .356. Others are third baseman Matt McClenahan, outfielder Peter Prodanov and pitcher Jeff Skalinski.

Dave Hunt of Hamilton Post 31 will start on the mound for the Mercer squad, which will be coached by Broad Street Park's manager Chuck Giambelluca.

BASEBALL BALLET: Hopewell third baseman Norm Coryell (4) leaps for the ball, as Hopewell pitcher Todd Vandervoort backs up the play in futile attempt to nail a sliding Princeton Post 218 base runner Dave Wise at third.

of Princeton's seven hits. Scott Feldman, who started for the losers and went three innings, took the loss, his first against no wins.

Hightstown limited Post 218 to three hits in its easy win. Ben Stentz went the distance on the mound for the losers to absorb his second loss, giving up 12 hits.

Against Hopewell, Post 218 could muster only two hits off Tod Vandervoort. Hopewell chipped away at Princeton pitcher Darren Horangic (0-3) who went the distance, for runs in every inning but the fifth.

One standout for Post 218 was a defensive gem by Stentz in centerfield. Stentz made a running-diving catch of a sinking line drive and then nailed runner Tom Clos at second, who had doubled in a run, to end the fourth inning with a double play. Stentz and Hayek had Princeton's only hits.

Post 218 began the week with a 14-3 loss to Trenton. The victors reached losing pitcher Colin Apse for 12 hits, stole 11 bases and put the game out of reach early when they sent 11 men to the plate in an eight-run second inning.

Post 218 had three hits, one each by Aaron Cooper, Danny Wilson and Dave Wise.

Spartans Finish on Top In PSA Soccer League

The Princeton Soccer Association's Princeton Spartans 1980 boys' soccer team travelled to St. Joseph's high school in Metuchen where they completed their season with a first-place finish in the 10-and-under premier flight division of the annual Mid-New Jersey Youth Soccer Association Soccerama Tournament.

In the first game, the Spartans blanked Branchburg Bunch, 3-0, on goals by John Walsh and Teddy Sullivan coupled with strong support in the midfield from Ryan Bahoshy and at the defensive end from James Pearce. In the second game, the Spartans posted a 4-1 victory over Franklin Force, led by a three-goal hat trick by Teddy Sullivan.

The play of Ott Phanthavong and Anwar Abdel-Aziz in the midfield, and that of Charles Pastore and Mike Cortese on defense, proved too much for their opponents.

Earlier, the Spartans completed league play and won a season-long battle with Chatham United for sole possession of second place with a 7-2-1 record. In their final league game, the Spartans defeated Branchburg Bunch, 5-1. The MNJYSA, the largest youth soccer organization in New Jersey, is comprised of more than 450 teams throughout the northern half of the State.

The Spartans will hold their annual fall season tryouts on Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. and on Sunday from 1 to 2:30 at the Riverside School field. ## Ficarro's Wins Pair To Climb in Standings

Barring collapses among the front-runners, the Women's Softball League is going to go down to the wire.

One of the contenders, the Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body won both its outings last week. It blanked Eagle Electric, 7-0, on Thursday and earlier survived a 2-1 scare by last-place Z&W Mazda. The two victories left Ficarro's tied with Grove Plumbing in second place. Both teams own 14-3 records, one game behind front-runner Three Seasons, which was upset last week by Dot's Girls.

In its next start, Ficarro's will face the same Dot's Girls club on Thursday at Field 4 at Mercer Park. Starting time is 6:30.

"This is an important game for us," commented Ficarro's manager Bob Smyth. "Dot's Girls has been playing well of late."

Against Eagle Electric, Ficarro's "played good, solid softball," said Smyth. It rapped 14 hits, scored in five of six innings and received a five-hit effort from winning pitcher Doreen Romanichuk.

At the plate, Ficarro's was led by Cindy Lombardo, Grace Durland and Cec Aertsin, all 3-for-3, Aertsin including a double in her three. Donna Nicholson had two hits in three at-bats and Charlotte Demasco contributed a pinch-hit, RBI single. Defensively, Ficarro's got outstanding games from Diane Kelly at short and from Lombardo and Debbie Smyth in the outfield.

Former PHS Football Coach Joe Jingoli Is Inducted Into Coaches Hall of Fame

Joe Jingoli, who coached the Princeton High football team for 16 years after the end of World War II, was recently inducted into the New Jersey Football Coaches Association's Hall of Fame.

Jingoli, who guided the Little Tigers from 1946 to 1961, and then served as the school's athletic director for ten years, is one of eight coaches (three posthumously) selected on a regional basis throughout the State. He was presented at a banquet attended by 460 at Rutgers University by Kurt Vollherbst, who coached the Little Tigers the past four seasons and is now a coach at Trenton State.

Through 127 games, Jingoli fashioned a 70-54-3 record. Ten of his 16 seasons were winning ones. His best two were the 1950 and '51 seasons. The 1950 PHS eleven was his only undefeated team — the school's first in 23 years. His 1951 squad kept the 15-game streak alive until it was beaten in its final game by Long Branch.

Those years under Jingoli were years of the single wing, and of fewer schools to play, forcing Princeton to travel outside Mercer County to find opponents.

Princeton's principal rivals were Trenton High and Cathedral High. Because there were no formal leagues back then like today's Colonial Valley Conference, the six County championships that Jingoli guided the Little Tigers to in his career were always prefaced with the word "mythical."

There was nothing mythical, however, about Jingoli's ability or his popularity with the players. Edgar Riddick, a member of the 1959 PHS football team that shared the mythical County championship that year was in attendance at the banquet, as were Tom Murray, co-captain of the 1953 team, and Larry Ivan, a former PHS coach in several sports.

Long-time followers of Princeton High will still recall some of the more renowned players who performed for Jingoli. Clyde "Buster" Thomas, an all-state player, Anthony "Red" Trani, Clarence "Bud" Bosley, Al "Peaches" Moore, Julius Cross, Jack Hawkins, Bob Cooper and Riddick.

A 1935 graduate of Cathedral High in Trenton, Jingoli went on to receive degrees from Rutgers University and was an assistant track coach at Junior 3 School in Trenton when, 11 months before Pearl Harbor, he was drafted. He rose to the rank of captain in the Air Force and was on terminal leave in 1946 when he began his teaching and coaching career at PHS, taking over the football reins from George Tindall.

One of his assistants that first year was a former PHS guard — Dick Wood. Wood was to serve as an assistant to Jingoli through Jingoli's entire 16-year tenure before taking over as head coach himself for 12 seasons. Tindall, Wood, and another longtime assistant coach, Jerry Groninger — who Jingoli described as "my three closest friends" — have all since died. But Jingoli, who turned 73 on Father's Day, still looks tan and fit, still enjoys summers at the shore and visiting his two daughters and five grandchildren.

Jingoli smiled as he heard some of the exploits of the others coaches who were inducted into the Hall of Fame with him. One had coached for four decades, another is on the verge of setting a new record for wins in the State. "I thought, 'what am I doing up here with only 16 years and 70 wins,'" said Jingoli.

Jingoli may have supplied the answer himself when he commented with a smile that the same coaching staff that had led the 1950-51 teams to success on the gridiron won only one football game the following year.

No, not how many wins or how many seasons — but character, leadership, example, dedication. On all counts, Jingoli was a winner. He belongs in the Hall of Fame.

As Is Often the Case...

"As is often the case, after a grueling tournament, we were flat," said Smyth in attempting to explain Ficarro's close call with Z&W Mazda. A few days earlier, Ficarro's had played six games in two days in a USSSA State Tournament at Mercer Park.

A winner only once in 16 starts, Z&W took a one-run lead in the fifth on two Ficarro errors. In the sixth Ficarro's tied it when Durland led off with one of Ficarro's four hits, advanced on a ground out and scored on Kelly's deep sacrifice fly.

In the top of the last inning, with one out, Ficarro's Karen Sprague walked, moved to second on Allison Aaron's single and scored the winning run on an error.

Winning pitcher Gail Johnson limited Z&W to a pair of hits. Ficarro's showed that it had not fully shaken off the fatigue of the tournament when it committed five errors.

Registration Under Way For Fall Soccer Leagues

The Princeton Soccer Association is now holding registration for its fall soccer leagues for boys and girls in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Registration is for the PSA house leagues which will play on Saturdays mornings from September 15 through November 17. All games will be played at the Washington Road Soccer Fields. The fee is $30 ($25 if paid by July 20). The fee will be waived in the case of financial hardship.

The house leagues are divided into separate divisions for boys and girls. Groupings are by grade: K-1, 2-3, 4-5 and 6-8. Residency in Princeton and previous soccer playing experience are not requirements to join.

Registration forms can be picked up at the Princeton Recreation Department office located in Community Park at the corner of Witherspoon Street and Valley Road. For further information, call PSA president, Ted Terpstra at 924-8243.

Men's Singles Tourney

The annual Mercer County men's singles tennis tournament will be held from July 14 to 20 at the Mercer County Outdoor Tennis Center.

All applications must be received no later than Thursday, July 13 at the Tennis Center. For further information on this event or the Mercer County Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament, call Tennis Center Office at 448-2088 or 586-9850.

Registration forms for a soccer day camp run in West Windsor by the New Jersey State Youth Soccer Association during the week of July 23 are also available at the Princeton Recreation Department. The fee for the recreational player day camp is $15 and includes a T-shirt and a practice soccer ball.

Sports Corner Champions In Babe Ruth League

Sports Corner of Princeton ended its first season in the Babe Ruth Baseball League with a 6-5 come-from-behind victory over Applied Business Solutions, the Montgomery Babe Ruth champions. Sports Corner gained the Princeton championship with an 8-4 record in regular season play against both Princeton and Montgomery team, losing only once (also to Sports Corner) in the regular season.

Steve Plimpton and Mike Procaccini, with help from David Wiskowski, did most of the pitching all season for the Princeton champs. Procaccini and Mike Berkman, the team's hitting leader, gave the team two dependable catchers. Second baseman Andrew Solomon, shortstop Steve Lutkowski, and third baseman Geoff Nosker formed a solid infield.

In the championship game, Sports Corner had to battle back from a 5-0 deficit after four innings. Jon Beshel's line drive over third was the big blow in the five-run fifth inning. Mike Procaccini's one-out single in the sixth, combined with his aggressive base running, produced the go-ahead run. Steve Plimpton pitched all seven innings for the victory.

Other members of the Sports Corner team include Todd Terpstra, Sage Ramadge, Steve Chiang, Todd Raphael, and Dan Lyons.

Father and Son Place In Karate Tournament

A father and son duo from Skillman won prizes this month in the 1990 Connecticut State Tang Soo Do Karate Championships, although both have been training less than a year.

Twelve-year-old Grey Jones Jr. captured first place in junior beginner forms and third place in junior beginner sparring. An orange belt wearer, he has been training for the past nine months and encouraged his father to take up the sport.

Grey Jones Sr. placed fourth in the men's beginner division in forms. He began studying Tang Soo Do in March and entered his first tournament just a few weeks after starting class.

Both father and son are now dedicated students of the martial arts. They study the Korean form of karate at the Princeton Karate School on Route 27 in Kingston.

Tamar Pachter

Anthony C. Adler, son of Stephen Adler and Judith Adler of Princeton, and Paul Suto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Suto, Bank Street, have graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

Mr. Adler, who plans to attend Princeton University, was a National Merit semifinalist, received senior honors in mathematics, and was founding editor of Synergy, a political forum magazine.

Mr. Suto, who will attend the University of California at Berkeley in January, was advertising manager for the school newspaper, The Phillippian.

Thomas Thompson, son of Gough Thompson, 12 Constitution Hill, has graduated magna cum laude from Dartmouth College. He majored in English.

Tamar Pachter, daughter of Dr. Ilana B. Pachter of Princeton and Irwin M. Pachter, has joined the San Francisco law firm of Farella, Braun & Martel as a litigation associate.

A graduate of Princeton Day School, Ms. Pachter graduated with a B.S.F.S. from Georgetown University School of Foreign Service in 1981, where she was editor-in-chief of the Georgetown Hoya. She was awarded her J.D., cum laude from Fordham University School of Law in 1987, and was on associate editor of the Fordham Law Review.

Ms. Pachter served as law clerk to Judge Marilyn Hall Patel, United States District Court for the Northern District of California from 1987 to 1988. She was previously with the law firm of Cahill, Gordon & Reindel of New York City.

Five area residents have graduated from Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

They are, Dawn N. Holland, 23 Randall Road; Marlana F. Mazzucato, 70 Riverside Drive; Hisham S. El-Shakhs, 66 Deer Path; Susan A. Pollack, 6 Woodfield Lane, Lawrenceville; and Stephanie A. Churn, 138 South Mill Road, Princeton Junction.

Dr. Vera Goodkin, of Lawrenceville, has been honored with Mercer County Community College's Distinguished Teaching Award for 1990. A professor of French and English, she has taught at the institution since 1963. Ms. Goodkin earned her bachelor's degree at Syracuse University, her master's at New York University and her Ed.D. at Rutgers university.

Vera Goodkin

Kate B. Wood, of Princeton, has been elected to the board of governors of the New Jersey Historical Society.

Ms. Wood, president of Burkewood Communications, was formerly executive director of the Educational Cable Consortium. Prior to that she was head of Upper School at the Kent Place School in Summit. A graduate of Wellesley College, she is a director of the Trust Company of Princeton.

Cellist Ann E. Kim, 18, of Lawrenceville, was one of the top prize winners in the Greater Trenton Symphony Foundation's 1990 Graham-Stahl scholarship award auditions.

The Graham-Stahl Instrumental Competition provides $2700 in annual scholarship funds to three high school or undergraduate college instrumental students who live within a 45-mile radius of Trenton.

Kendra Bebb

Helen G. Kohut, of Belle Mead, has received the American Cancer Society's Marie D. Marshall Memorial Award, which is given to individuals who have committed their careers to breast cancer treatment and rehabilitation.

Ms. Kohut, presently the YWCA dance coordinator, recognized the limited rehabilitative resources for women recovering from breast surgery in the early 1970s. Her background as a registered nurse helped her develop ENCORE, a pilot program at the Princeton YWCA, which combined group discussion, exercise, and aquatic rehabilitation.

The program has since been endorsed by many organizations, including the American Cancer Society and the American Medical Association. The National YWCA adopted the ENCORE program in 1976 and provides training and certification to instructors in more than 60 YWCAs offering the program.

Ms. Kohut has been a national YWCA consultant and is on the advisory board of the Princeton YWCA Breast Cancer Resource Center. She has traveled throughout the country making television appearances and giving workshops, always stressing the importance of early detection of breast cancer and rehabilitative exercises.

Fred Wang, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wang, 3 Chelsea Court, a junior at The Lawrenceville School, has been selected to participate in the Presidential Classroom Session in June in Washington, D.C.

Presidential Classroom exposes students in this country and throughout the world to the elected and appointed leaders of government and other key officials. Participants explore diverse viewpoints through a combination of seminars, debates and small group discussions.

One area Rider College geology student and one area marine science student have been accepted into graduate programs.

Phillip A. Pappano, of Lawrence Township, was admitted to graduate programs at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Michigan State University, and State University of New York-Binghamton. A Sigma Xi inductee and recipient of the William Tarr Award from Sigma Gamma Epsilon for excellence in student research in earth sciences, he accepted the teaching assistantship at VPI.

Christopher Rule, of Hopewell, the first graduate of Rider's marine science major formally initiated in the fall of 1988, was accepted into the graduate programs of the University of Delaware and the University of New Hampshire. He chose the teaching assistantship from New Hampshire.

Timothy Geller, of Edwards Place, a Ph.D. candidate at Princeton, conducted 24 students from a Roxbury, Mass., public school, with a viola player and percussionist in a performance of his Prayer for Mandela at a private reception for Nelson Mandela in Boston during the recent visit of the South African leader.

Mr. Geller calls Prayer for Mandela a work for viola and kids. The first sketches took shape three years ago, shaped by his deepening awareness of the South African struggle and frustration with the continuing tolerance for the institutionalized racism of the South African government. The work was created two years ago in a series of musical workshops at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts in Boston in which Mr. Geller explored new sounds and compositional ideas with public school students, using ordinary objects as instruments.

The musical material is drawn from a protest song from the Civil Rights movement which is "sung" by the viola, with the students supplying an atmosphere of "found object" music from sources as diverse as wine glasses and water hoses, along with readings from the Freedom Charter of the African National Congress.

Mr. Geller has been the recipient of many fellowships, including the Charles Ives Center for American Music, Tanglewood Music Center, MacDowell Colony, Virginia Center for Creative Arts and the Guggenheim Foundation. This year he was awarded a grant to attend the Rockefeller Foundation's Bellagio Center in Italy. He attended Hastings College and Colorado State University and also studied at the University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand.

While in New Zealand he played bassoon for the Canterbury Orchestra, Christchurch, and was assistant music director of the orchestra. Since 1986 he has done freelance digital tape recordings for labels such as Nonesuch, CBS Masterworks, Telarc and GM Recordings.

Adam A. Boskovic, of Hopewell, a Life Scout of Troop 71, has been inducted as an Eagle Scout. His Eagle project included widening a half-mile trail for the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association, reconstructing two bridges on the trail, and constructing two signs.

Christine King, daughter of Gail and John King, 24 Arvida Drive, Pennington, has been inducted into the Bucknell University chapter of Phi Sigma national honor society for biology students. She has served three semesters as advertising manager of The Bucknellian, the student-run campus newspaper. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Mrs. Wertenbaker

kery of Glamorgan, Wales, have kept up a friendship for over 40 years, in monthly correspondence and by visits back and forth across the Atlantic. Her most recent visit to Britain was in 1986, and she is as much of an anglophile as she is a southerner by birth and temperament.

The Wertenbakers were active in British War Relief and in the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies before the United States entered World War II. The Wertenbaker home was open house to countless visitors sponsored by the English Speaking Union, which sent a huge bouquet of yellow roses on Mrs. Wertenbaker's birthday. She has been active in ESU since 1947, serving as secretary of the ESU branch at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville in 1954-55 and as secretary of the Princeton branch for many years.

The Historical Society of Princeton also adopted a resolution of appreciation and good wishes signed by the officers and trustees. The Present Day Club held a special tea in her honor in advance of the birthday. Mrs. Wertenbaker was twice president of that organization and held other offices on its board for many years.

On the campus she was active in the University League and initiated and secured funds for the Faculty Bed Fund, which she administered for 12 years. When the Princeton U.S.O. was started in the building now housing TOWN TOPICS, she was chairman of volunteers and responsible for staffing. Later at Princeton President Harold Dodd's request, she started the Campus Center in Murray-Dodge Hall and suggested the name. She was its director and worked there seven days a week often from 7 until midnight with a brief afternoon rest.

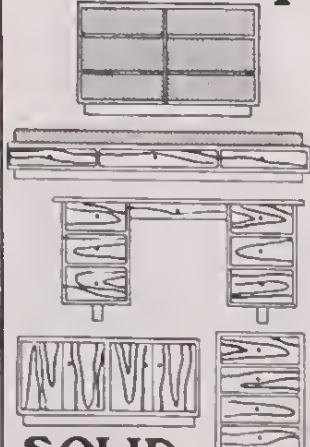

She makes a point of attending the Princeton University graduation each year, as well as the commissioning of the new officers in the Reserve Officers Training Corps, which sent her a plaque commending her for faithful attendance since the ROTC was established here in 1919.

Mrs. Wertenbaker is a grand dame with southern overtones — a lady of the old school of white gloves and calling cards for whom entertaining and being entertained is a way of life, but she is also a perceptive and intelligent woman who would see a need and respond to it, giving countless hours to worthy causes over the years.

She has marvelous memories of bygone Princeton days, of the University presidents and deans she came to know as a faculty wife for 74 years. The University has been the keystone of her life, and it has sustained her well.

—Barbara L. Johnson

OBITUARIES

William P. Wright Jr., 78, of Princeton-Kingston Road, died June 23 of bronchial pneumonia in Campsea Ashe, England.

Born in Old Greenwich, R.I., he graduated from Horace Mann School, New York City, in 1929, and from Princeton University in 1933. He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps in England during World War II, remained active in the Air Force Reserve and retired as a colonel. He was a textile executive, working for Greenwood Mills in New York City, and also was a vice president for J. Walter Thompson, an advertising agency.

Mr. Wright served as chairman of the textile section of the New York Board of Trade; as deputy secretary of the Air Force during the Eisenhower Administration; in the office of export promotion, Department of Commerce in the Kennedy Administration; and was an importer of silk textiles until his retirement in 1982.

An active Princeton University alumnus, he was class secretary for many years and served as president of the Alumni Association and chairman of the executive committee of the Alumni Council from 1963 to 1965.

Surviving are his wife, Sheila M. Anderson Wright; four children of his first marriage to Eula L. McKnight Wright, who predeceased: Nancy L. Alter of Pittsburgh, Pa., William P. Wright III of Purdys, N.Y., James L. Wright of Bridge-water, Conn., and Elizabeth L. Wright of New York City; and by five grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at a date to be announced.

Lawrence E. Ritchey, 37, a former Princeton resident, died Monday in Boulder, Col., where he lived for the past 18 years.

Mr. Ritchey was born in Oklahoma City and lived in Princeton before moving to Boulder. He attended Rutgers University and graduated from the University of Colorado in Boulder with a bachelor of science degree in psychology. He also graduated from the University of Colorado Law School in Boulder. He was employed by Rex Industries in Golden, Col., for the past five years.

Surviving are his parents, Edward C. and M. Jane Ritchey of Louisville, Ky.; a brother, John Ritchey of Danville, Calif.; two sisters, Janet Anderson of Columbia, Md., and Lynn Magnuson of Cranby, Col.; and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held at the First Presbyterian Church of Boulder. In lieu of flowers, Memorial contributions may be made to the Lawrence E. Ritchey Memorial Fund, c/o Crist Mortuary, 3395 Penrose Place, Boulder, Col. 80301.

Henry A. Douglas Jr., 62, of Trenton, died June 26 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Douglas lived in the Princeton-Trenton area all his life. He was a former sales manager for Williamson Construction Co. for 15 years and was a self-employed professional photographer, operating Douglas Photo Shop in Trenton for many years. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

He was a member of Wither-spoon Street Presbyterian Church, and the Fishing and Hunting Club of the State of New Jersey. He was also president of the Bromley Civic Association.

The service was held at a Trenton funeral home followed by cremation at the Ewing Crematorium.

Hsien-Yun Liu, 70, of Princeton Junction, died June 27 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in China, Mrs. Liu came to the United States in 1972, lived in New York City and moved to Princeton Junction in 1983. She became a United States citizen in 1978. She was a member of the Central Jersey Chinese-American Association.

Surviving are her husband Fu-Hsiang Liu; two sons, Victor W. Liu of Plainsboro and Raleigh Liu of Darastown, Md.; three daughters, Rosa Liu Lin of Williamsport, Pa., Julie C. Liu Hsu of Princeton Junction and Patty C. Liu Huang of Princeton Junction; and seven grandchildren.

The service was held at Mather-Hodge Funeral Home with burial in Princeton Cemetery.

Mary M. Burd, 67, of Hopewell, died July 1 at St. Francis Medical Center after a lengthy illness.

Born in Bordentown, Mrs. Burd lived in Hopewell for most of her life. She was employed as a license clerk in Hopewell for five years. She was a member of St. Alphonsus Church, Hopewell.

Surviving are her husband, Raymond W. Burd; a son, Robert Burd, at home; three daughters, Susan Baglivio of Gainesville, Fla., Joanne Hunter of Great Falls, Va., and Mary Deubler of Ringoes; three sisters, Dolores Murray of Philadelphia, Ruth Hazard of Hamilton Square and Gertrude Koba of Trenton.

Bulletin Notes

Covington and Covington will bring a concert of Christian music to the Montgomery Evangelical Free Church on Sunday, at 6.

David and Sharon Covington sing and speak in concert halls, conference centers, church buildings and gymnasiums around America. Their topics include Biblical themes, relationships, and the Christian and the culture. Covington and Covington music is mostly original: folk, country, jazz, blues and ballads.

The Covingtons live in the Sierras north of Tahoe. They have traveled extensively, including a lengthy study at L'Abri Fellowship in Switzerland and a trip into Eastern Europe.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be received. Montgomery Evangelical Free Church is located on Griggstown Road a mile east of Route 206 between Somerville and Princeton. Call the church office at (201) 874-4634 for additional information.

Flea Market at Mt. Pisgah

Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, 170 Witherspoon Street has scheduled a flea market, spaghetti luncheon and bake sale on Saturday.

The flea market will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until noon when the luncheon will start. The bake sale will include cakes, pies and cookies.

The public is invited. Donations are $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Molly McNelis, a seminarian assistant at Princeton University Chapel, will preach Sunday at 10 at the Chapel.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Princeton Junction has begun its summer worship schedule. Two services are offered each Sunday, beginning at 8:15 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. The 8:15 a.m. service focuses on specific Bible passages. The church's pastors, the Rev. Gregg Kaufman and the Rev. Margaret Payne will conduct the services and preach the sermons.

Eric Ruder will give a talk on the Nicaraguan elections Sunday at 10 at the Unitarian Church. Mr. Bruder was an observer of the elections. Music for the service will be by Joel Bartlett. A light brunch is served after the service.

"The Muslim Community in Princeton: Viewpoint of a Minority" will be the topic of an adult education program at Nassau Presbyterian Church Sunday from 9 to 9:45. S.M. Matin, a nuclear physicist turned private real estate developer, will be the speaker. He is a founding member of the Islamic Center in Princeton and of mosques in Trenton, New York City and Boston.

Dr. Matin is also a member of a Muslim group engaged in dialogue with a Roman Catholic committee headed by Cardinal O'Connor. He will speak the following Sunday, July 15, on "The Muslim Community in the U.S.: Its Vision."

COTE D' AZUR

Like its Mediterranean counterparts, this home is ageless, breathing the charm and gentility of a long cultural heritage. The very old and the very new have been merged here to create a once-in-a-lifetime masterpiece.

Set in the midst of a six-acre park on the outskirts of Princeton, this estate boasts total privacy and allows for quiet solitude. Specimen plants and mighty, old trees abound. A greenhouse offers shelter to new seedlings. In short, a true haven for the horticulturist. Terraces and balconies offer protected views of these spectacular grounds from many vantage points.

Within the home one is greeted with such special amenities as marble and oak floors; vaulted ceilings; monumental living room fireplace with antique mantel; master bedroom suite with 2 fireplaces, mini kitchen, private deck and sauna; cherry cabined kitchen with prestige appliances and spacious center island; servant's quarters; guest wing.

Call for more details and a tour of this unique estate. Hopewell Township. Offered at $1,950,000 residents, believing this means 60-foot buildings, and seeing that a 15-foot penthouse is allowed on top, are protesting that the regulations for the E-4 zone (Westminster Choir College and Princeton Seminary) are more stringent than those for the E-Quad next to their homes.

E-Quad

It was probably because of these concerns and the desire of the residents to have the ordinance changed, that a great deal of time was spent at the first hearing last Wednesday night on a single paragraph of the settlement agreement. Under paragraph C, either the University or the Planning Board would have the right to terminate the settlement agreement if an E-3/E-4 ordinance other than the one introduced by Borough Council is adopted, or if, after a 90-day period, no E-3/E-4 ordinance has been adopted.

"Chilling Effect"

The discussion centered on whether this would have a "chilling" effect on the Planning Board or Borough Council — inhibiting the board from recommending changes to the ordinance and the Council from amending the ordinance. The issue came up at the outset of the meeting when University representatives were asked if they would agree to withdraw that paragraph so that there would be no "appearance" of inhibiting the board or the council.

University Vice President for Facilities Eugene McPartland said the paragraph was "not intended to inhibit the board's recommendations to the Borough Council," but he said, "We do wish to retain this wording."

He explained that there is a lot of expense attached to the conditions in the settlement agreement, which he said went much further than the immediate area around the garage as the subject of the litigation.

There was discussion of the implications of the board approving the agreement without paragraph C — would the University then withdraw the application for the garage? Vice President for Public Affairs Robert Durkee said there was another option and that was to go back to the court.

List of Adjustments

The audience had been reminded at the outset that Superior Court Judge Paul Levy had told both parties that the Planning Board did not have a right to deny the garage in this zone but it did have a right to impose conditions to mitigate effects on the neighborhood. Mr. Durkee said there was a large list of adjustments and costs attached to the settlement agreement and that the University was willing to undertake them assuming that the other projects would go forward. "But we have to have the zoning that allows them," he said.

Planning Board Chairman Margen Penick said she was "very disturbed" by paragraph C. She said that the purpose of board comment was so that an ordinance could be changed. She offered a motion that the board not accept the paragraph in the agreement, but it was not seconded. Vice Chairman Richard Henkel proposed a counter motion that was seconded by Pamela Morine that all except Mrs. Penick voted for.

Then Richard Collier, planning consultant to the board, described landscaping along the backs of the Murray Place residences in addition to that set forth in the agreement.

This caught the University by surprise ("this is the first time I've seen this," Mr. McPartland said), but University representatives agreed to work out the details with the board's landscape subcommittee, keeping in mind the need for access for emergency vehicles to certain buildings in the area which might not allow as much of a landscape buffer as Mr. Collier was proposing.

At the public hearing Ben Jensen, 5 Murray Place, asked that the driveway proposed as an access road to parking lot 2 be upgraded to the fullblown road that had been promised when Davidson's had moved into the neighborhood. Planning Board Vice Chairman Joseph O'Neill, a member of the committee that negotiated the settlement with the University, along with Mrs. Penick and William Enslin, told him the committee had also suggested this, but the University did not accept it.

The barrier at the bottom of the Davidson's lot will remain. But if the University is not permitted to build the driveway, the Davidson's lot will become the access point, according to Jon D. Hlafter, director of physical planning. David Goldfarb, 12 Charlton Street, expressed concern about traffic on Olden Street when this drive becomes operative and asked for a traffic study.

Arm Twisting

But again and again, the focus of neighbor comment was on paragraph C and its "chilling" effect on Borough Council. "I feel the committee had its arms twisted," said Ilene Cohen, 46 Murray Place.

Borough Council President Marvin Reed told the audience that the real chill was in the fact that the courts in Mercer County sympathize with developers. "We did not get to this zoning soon enough," Mr. Reed said. "If nothing is done here, Levy will probably rule that the University can build what it wants to build."

"We're proposing that two-thirds of the currently allowable square footage be eliminated. That's a significant down-zoning. The original ordinance was extremely permissive. We're trying to get some balance, but the University always has the right to sue, to charge us with being arbitrary and capricious. That's why I told Council to give reasons in the ordinance discussions, so we'd be prepared."

Councilman Martindale asked the board to put off a vote on the settlement agreement until after the Borough Council vote on the ordinance. He said he had voted in the minority against introduction of the ordinance and wanted an opportunity to change some of his colleague's minds. After additional comment from the audience, Mr. O'Neill proposed a motion to delay voting on the settlement agreement. His motion, seconded by Mrs. Penick, failed on a tied 5-5 vote.

Mr. Henkel countered with a motion to vote on the agreement that night. Township Mayor Kate Litvack seconded the motion which passed 8-2. Mrs. Penick and Mr. Reed voting no. The vote on approving the agreement was also 8 to 2, but this time Mr. Enslin joined Mrs. Penick in voting "no."

James Britt, attorney for the University in this application, asked for a vote on the re-opened garage site plan application. Mr. Enslin was ruled ineligible to vote because he had not been at the meeting through the entire discussion. Mrs. Penick voted "no" and was cheered by someone in the audience, who said "Good for you!" leaving eight "yea" votes.

Course to Be Offered In Lifeguard Training

The Princeton Recreation Department is offering a lifeguard training course to all interested swimmers 15 or older who meet basic Red Cross requirements.

The course will be taught at Princeton Community Park Pool on Saturdays and Sundays from 8 to 12 noon, beginning Saturday and ending August 12. The $50 fee includes a separate certification program in basic CPR and first aid. The course is a mandatory prerequisite to a lifeguard training card.

Testbooks for the three programs will cost approximately $25 and can be purchased from the instructors. Those interested can register for the course at the Recreation Office, 380 Witherspoon Street, from 9 to 4. For additional information, call 921-9480.

Soccer Tryouts Set

The Princeton Wildcats 1980 Traveling Soccer Team will hold a tryout next Saturday, July 14, from 9 to 12 noon at Riverside School field to fill an open spot on the team roster.

Those interested should bring their birth certificate or a copy. For more information, call Harry Mapps at 921-2094.
